JESD Trustees Expected To Act on Pay Increases

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Steps are expected to be taken during a regular meeting of the Jefferson Elementary School District board of trustees Wednesday to clarify a motion which will give the district's three top administrators a pay hike.

Recently it was disclosed Superintendent Frank L. Greenwood, and assistants Roger Barthuli and Vincent Stratton had included themselves in a two per cent across the board pay hike along with district teachers.

Trustees (Mrs.) Dorothy Adams, (Mrs.) Beverly Forrester and former Trustee William Schumaucher said they had no intention of including the trio in the wage boost. An Attorney General's opinion of October 1968, supported by a district attorney's ruling on the issue, said such a pay boost was not legal. The DA ordered those wages paid to be returned.

In the case of Superintendent Greenwood the amount to be repaid was $695.

Earlier this month, Trustee Edward Tomasello motioned and Trustee Al Collett seconded that the board offer its apologies to the administrators, give them a pay increase that would cover the amount the men had to pay back, and continue the two per cent pay raise offered to the certificated employees of the district.

The original motion read: "It was moved by Mrs. Tomasello and seconded by Mr. Collett to apologize to the administration for the embarrassment involved and to grant a salary raise to the Superintendent and the two Associate Superintendents from this point on, in the percentage that will cover the amount of money they have to return, until the following year when the contract comes up and this percentage raise will revert back to the board for future consideration."

The motion carried by a 3-2 vote, with Tomasello, Collett and James Cranna voting to give the raise and Adams and Forrester against.

Greenwood wants the motion spelled out.

In a memo to the Board it was pointed out that "The motion is verbatim from the tape and could be misinterpreted."

To avoid any such misinterpretation (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

Trial of a taxpayer suit seeking to force Daly City to return a portion of funds it has received from the Jefferson School District for a joint recreation program has been continued until June 27 at 9:30 a.m.

A motion for the continuance, made by attorney Dick Bennett on behalf of the plaintiff, Mrs. Beverly Forrester, a member of the Jefferson District Board of Trustees, was granted Tuesday by Presiding Superior Court Judge Melvin E. Cohn.

In addition to seeking return of $25,919 in district funds which Mrs. Forrester contends were illegally allocated by the district to the city, the suit asks that another trustee, Edward J. Tomasello, who is employed as a recreation supervisor for the city, be restrained from any future voting on allocation of school funds for the joint school district-city recreation program because of a conflict of interest.

The suit was filed on behalf of Mrs. Forrester nearly two years ago. She subsequently was elected to the school board herself following a campaign on promises to reform asserted irregularities in the school district-city relationship.

Deputy District Attorney L. M. Summey, who is defending Tomasello and the district, contends that Tomasello, in his capacity with the city, is not in a policy-making position, nor is he in a position to enhance his employment advancement or financial status.

JESD Meeting At City Hall

The regular meeting of the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees will be held tonight (Wednesday) at 8 p.m. in the Daly City Hall council chambers, 90th and Sullivan Avenues, Daly City.

Strike Threat

Attempts at SSF Compromise Fail

South San Francisco councilmen and union representatives failed to reach a compromise Monday in their dispute over a proposal to contract certain municipal jobs and services. The council contends it would save money, while the employees fear it would mean lost jobs and an erosion of civil service.

Morning-long negotiations yesterday failed to erase the strike possibility.

The talks apparently still are hung up around the future of the city's engineering department.

Union representative Gillis outlined the results of Tuesday's session with city negotiators for about 150 employees meeting at Santa Cristo hall at 11:20 a.m.

The employees voted to seek a strike sanction next Monday from the San Mateo Labor Council. They decided to go out on strike if no agreement is reached by next Tuesday.

The controversy began after the city council on the recommendation of City Mgr. Gale Dreisbach, unanimously authorized, without a public hearing or prior notice, the making of an independent firm an autonomous city department.

The move eliminated the city's engineering department and meant laying off six engineering department employees. An administrative assistant also was let go, apparently as a result of the reorganization.

Last week union representative Frank Gillis called a meeting of all employees to combat the city's move. At that time he received unanimous verbal approval to submit a resolution demanding the city not contract or subcontract work or service traditionally performed by employees.

This same demand was presented to the council last night at an unruly meeting attended by approximately 300 persons at the El Camino High School Little Theater.

Councilman Patrick Ahern, who called city hall during the day and said he was ill, did not attend.

The routine business was concluded rather swiftly and then Councilman Bill Borba, who had joined in the unanimous vote approving the "governmental shakeup, took a changed position of adversary and launched an attack on Dreisbach.

After chastising the council action that deleted $26,000 from the budget earmarked for monthly tree trimming cleanup (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

SAN MATEO COUNTY Law Enforcement Association recently presented donations to the Boys Club of San Mateo and the South San Francisco Boys Club in memory of late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who was a longtime supporter of boys clubs. The donations were presented by San Carlos Police Chief Robert Wasserman, center, to August Serena, left, assistant director of the Boys Club of San Mateo, and George Adanessian, right, board chairman of the South San Francisco Boys Club.

Grant to Chamber

Agreement on Bruno Budget

San Bruno Councilmen reached a tentative agreement on their new $4.6 million 1972-73 city budget Monday night, but will wait till the end of the month before making it final.

Councilmen agreed on these issues:

—Two new firemen will be added. City Manager Gerald Minford had recommended just one, to permit reduction of duty hours from 58 to 57 hours a week, as agreed to in last year's labor negotiation. The other fireman will be a captain, to aid Marshal Harper Petersen in his fire prevention work.

—One more position will be added to the central garage. He will service automotive equipment, so as to save present waiting time, and to free skilled mechanics. Also, a pit is being added.

—The city will take over funding of a patrolman, whose federal funding will end on March, 1973. This position has enabled the city to embark on a highly successful accident-prevention program.

—The Council granted the Chamber of Commerce $500 of the $16,000 in requests it made last week, but specified that $4500 of that sum was to be a one-time only appropriation. The basic amount given the chamber was raised from $6000 to $7300. Granted was $1000 for a "Shop San Bruno" program; $1500 for city brochures, $2000 for new maps. The other requests, such as $1000 for beauty contest aid, and $1500 for the Chamber's share of a downtown study, were turned down.

Developments on 4 Concern For Rare Eagle Told

A group of investors Monday night unveiled for the San Bruno Planning Commission a preliminary site plan for an office center along nearly a half mile of Sneath Lane.

It would have 200,000 square feet of floor space and parking for 500 cars. The center would be located on the present site of the hothouses being operated by Avansino-Mortensen Nursery Co.

The project would be a joint venture of Lincoln Property, and Congdon, Castle & Thrift Investment Co.

The office building park had one unique aspect. The investors showed a great concern for the physical fitness of the executives who may some day work there.

While no sidewalks are being planned in the project, it will have a path meandering amidst the greenery to be planted there.

"We plan to make a jogging circuit for nervous executives, you might say," said one partner, Edgar Thrift Jr. of Redwood City.

Among the first buildings planned will be a 2000-square foot exercise building, with a handball court, sauna, other gymnastic equipment and men's locker rooms.

"No women's locker rooms?" asked a commissioner.

"Nope — it won't be for the secretaries, it will be just for the bosses!"

There won't even be any parking stalls at the building — "the executives must exercise to get there," he added.

The buildings are planned to be two-story with pitched roofs, possible mission style, surrounded by gardens. There would be about 16 buildings, in nine groupings.

The investors had no actual plans drawn up; they merely wanted some kind of a go-ahead from the planners as to whether they favored the concept so that they would know whether to go ahead on the plans. The planners encouraged them to go ahead, but promised them nothing.

The investors will now have to ask for a rezoning, back to A-R, administrative-research, from its current apartment zoning. Its present zoning had been requested by Lincoln Properties, whose plans for future expansion were presented last week. (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Concern is being expressed here for the fate of a rare golden eagle which alighted on the front porch of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Netsell, 3321 Crestmoor Drive, San Bruno, for two and one-half hours Monday afternoon.

The eagle had apparently been hit by a panel truck, according to Mrs. Netsell and seemed to be stunned. A neighbor called the police, who in turn obtained the aid of the Peninsula Society, in trying to capture the bird so as to give it proper treatment. However, none was able to get close enough to the shy but still dangerous bird.

Police had sought to put a blanket over the giant bird; Humane officers came with a net. Finally, the aid of a falconer from the San Francisco Zoo was obtained — but the bird finally flew away before any capture. The zoo official expressed fear that the bird could not survive so far from its own natural habitat.

The upper Crestmoor area will long remember the Golden Eagle, Mrs. Netsell said that she couldn't believe it when the neighbor who called the police then called her to tell her an eagle was on her porch. She thought at first it would be a hawk or falcon, but when she saw it, she had no doubt.

With police cars and Humane Society cars clustered around the home, neighbors gathered their children to go over to see the eagle.

"It really spread those wings up when it flew away!" Mrs. Netsell said.

Skyline's Garlington

Resolution Lauds President

Trustees of San Mateo Junior College District have unanimously adopted a resolution lauding Philip C. Garlington, founding president of Skyline College, for "great and dedicated leadership."

Garlington is being reassigned, at his own request, to a teaching position in the district beginning next fall. He will be succeeded in the Skyline presidency on July 1 by Dr. John C. Peterson, formerly a key administrator at Cabrillo College in Aptos.

The resolution notes that Garlington was selected in late 1968 to be president of the district's new San Bruno college "because of his distinguished record as director of instruction at College of San Mateo for 10 years, and previously as a teacher and administrator at other institutions of higher education."

At the time of his appointment, it is pointed out, Skyline "consisted solely of buildings and other campus facilities still under construction — with no students enrolled, no staff employed, no educational programs developed, no community ties established."

Working against the clock to open the college on schedule in September, 1969, the resolution states, Garlington "quickly succeeded in securing the services and the allegiance of outstanding teachers, administrators and other staff members."

Together they developed "a comprehensive educational program and strong community support ... so as to enable Skyline College fully to meet the needs of its students from the outset of operations."

Bruno Land Development

Developments on four controversial parcels of land highlighted Monday night's study session of the San Bruno Planning Commission.

Planning Secretary Melvin Bredlow reported that developer Robert Berryman was applying for a rezoning of portion of his 13 lots along Cunningham Way from CN, neighborhood Commercial to R1, single family. The other lots are already zoned R1.

The buildings would be conventional residences meeting all requirements, with lots ranging from 6000 square feet to 10,274 feet.

he said was needed, Borba took on Dreisbach.

The councilman cited figures of $119 and $111, claiming they were monthly luncheon tabs.

"The practice has got to stop," said Borba.

He then said he was "going to let the cat out of the bag," and proceeded to announce that during an executive session the matter of eliminating heavy road equipment from the city's street department was discussed.

Borba mentioned the figure of $4,000, which he claimed was spent on a desk and chairs made to Dreisbach's special needs, apparently purchased while Borba was mayor.

Finally, Mayor Frank Mammini said to Borba that if he had a problem with personnel he should take the matter up in executive session.

Mammini was shouted down by an angry crowd obviously enjoying Borba's remarks. Mammini finally declared a recess to a chorus of boos.

After the recess, Mammini said it was done "to reorganize our thinking, on the council and in the audience." He asked Borba if he as a courtesy would take the matters up in executive session. Borba said he would, then qualified it by saying he would if a certain individual who was given 90 days' notice was put back on the payroll. With a little prodding he said he was talking about Administrative Assistant Jack Meline.

"He left a good job to come to South San Francisco. I don't think we should see this man leave the city administration," said Borba.

"I'm not asking for blackmail," he quickly added.

Borba agreed the matter could be put on a later executive session.

sion of The Place, had apparently been altered.

Dan McLarry, of Lincoln Properties presented plans for Phase 3 and Phase 4 of The Place — and the planners asked him for more changes. Already, Phase 1 with 232 units is complete, and Phase 2 with 176 units is under construction. Phase 3 with 136 units will start with final planning approval, while Phase 4, which will bring the project to a total of 872 units, is still under study.

At issue Monday night was a type of apartment unit which McLarry called "one-bedroom" and the planners felt should be called a "studio apartment."

tive session. Meline said he had "no comment" on Borba's remarks.

At about this point, Councilman Warren Steinkamp introduced a resolution "setting policy regarding reorganizational changes."

The resolution, which never got to a vote, says the city reserves the right to select the methods by which existing and new services are to be performed by the city.

It also said there will be no layoffs to accomplish the programs developed as a result of the reorganization, but that personnel may be transferred to different departments "to better effectuate the program of reorganization."

Gillis said "all employees feel they are subject to termination (at the whim) of the city council or city manager."

"This city has contracted out employees jobs. This has to stop, and the people (laid off) have to be restored to their jobs," said Gillis.

Burglaries

Net Thieves

$950 in SSF

Two weekend burglaries in South San Francisco netted $950 in cash, $800 of that from one establishment.

According to police reports, a safe was broken into at the Manor Room, 334 Grand Avenue, and $800 in cash was removed from it.

Police said the burglary occurred sometime during the early morning hours of Saturday. Entrance was gained through the back door and the safe was pried open, police said.

The other burglary occurred during the noon hour Friday and resulted in the loss of $150 from the Westborough Water District offices at 2263 Westborough Boulevard.

Police said someone gained entrance and took the money from a cash drawer.

pretation. Greenwood will ask for a more definitive outline of just how the raise and reimbursement will work.

It was understood that opponents of the move will ask for a legal opinion on the matter. Meanwhile, action on adoption of the annual recreational budget has been shelved by the board because the matter is before the courts.

This stance was taken after receipt of a letter from Deputy District Attorney Keith Breon.

S.S.F. Priest to Marry; Import Irish Clerics

Rev. John Purcell

Wedding bells are causing an acute shortage of priests in the San Francisco Catholic Archdiocese and Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken has appealed to outside areas for help in filling his diminishing ranks.

Latest to join the exodus south is the Rev. James Purcell, of South San Francisco, executive secretary of the Archdiocesan Priests Senate.

News of Father Purcell's decision to marry leaked out Sunday night when he failed to turn up at an American Medical Association meeting where he was scheduled to be a panelist.

Instead, Rev. William Burns, president of the Priests Senate, participated in the meeting.

Father Purcell, in residence at All Souls Church, who reportedly intends to marry a former nun, follows a pattern started some three years ago when Monsignor James Murray resigned. The Archdiocese next witnessed the resignation of another prominent department head, Monsignor John Scanlon, for the same reason.

In recent weeks, the Rev. Philip Murphy, well-known editor of The Monitor, the Archdiocese's weekly newspaper, asked to be relieved of his priestly vows so he could marry. Like Father Purcell, Murphy is awaiting special dispensation from the Vatican.

The Archdiocese was rocked when next it was brought to light by The Times that Rev. Robert Duryea, pastor of St. Peters Church in Pacifica, had been secretly married for some seven years and was the father of a six-year-old son.

Archbishop McGucken took immediate steps to relieve Father Duryea of his post.

It was also learned that two other priests have indicated their desire to leave the church in order to marry.

So great is the pressure on replacing these priests that Archbishop McGucken is soliciting aid from "outside" areas.

Presently six Irish missionaries ordered out of Biafra were brought to San Francisco by the Archbishop. They are taking up parish duties, it was reported. Two are at St. Gregory's Church in San Mateo.

Still another priest from Eire is expected to arrive in the Archdiocese soon.

Father Burns noted that young men are not entering the priesthood as they once did. This year only two seminarians have been ordained as compared to last year when eight entered the church. In 1969 there was 61.

A conference on the reasons for this sudden exodus of priests is scheduled to get under way sometime this fall, participated in by members of the Priests Senate.

Men 'Shop' With Gun

A used car salesman in San Bruno Sunday was relieved at gunpoint of the car he was showing a customer.

Police said the vehicle was later found in San Francisco. It had been stripped.

According to police two men described as 21 to 24 years of age went for a demonstration ride with a salesman at Turner Ford in a 1970 model car.

The salesman, who was driving the car, was asked to pull over because the "prospective buyers" wanted to hear how the transmission sounded. When he stopped, he was ordered out of the car at the point of a gun, police said.

Drug Charge Jails Youth In Daly City

San Mateo police arrested a Daly City youth early yesterday, charging him with possession of marijuana and dangerous drugs. They were kept busy into the wee hours of the morning sending home juveniles and young adults who sought out the hotel room where the youth was found.

According to police, more than 40 juveniles congregated about a private room at a San Mateo hotel, and another 30 were wandering around corridors shortly after midnight yesterday.

As tenants complained, a policeman approached the door to the room, and found one to be rolling a cigarette paper about vegetable matter in a plastic bag.

He arrested Raymond Lucchesi, 18, of 272 Altaloma Avenue, Daly City; a juvenile companion was also taken into custody. Six more police officers then joined the officer, and the party was closed down, and 50 young people inside searched and allowed to leave. A minimal amount of alcohol was found.

A search of the arrested juvenile produced only cigarette paper and a can of malt liquor, police said.

Police reported that they found a lid of vegetable matter, cigarette papers, a tin-foil packet with 13 pills on the suspect. Under a cushion where he sat, they reported finding a flip-top box containing 290 individually wrapped packets, 29 in all.

S.S.F. Aides Come Up With Jiffy Flyer

While South San Francisco's City Attorney John Noonan last night was struggling for words to explain why no agreement was reached in a threatening strike situation, union representatives apparently were busy with a mimeograph machine.

No sooner had a city hall two-hour negotiating session ended, and explanations of why the two parties would meet again today been made, than a union representative was standing at the council chambers door handing out flyers.

The flyer noted that "it is obvious that the city administration wishes to trade principles of job security and recognition of faithful and competent service for the so-called 'expert services' of a Los Angeles contractor."

"You've just heard (only minutes earlier) the council deny our resolution. Don't be fooled by declarations of intent. The intent of the city was made clear when the six employees of the engineering department were laid off."

The flyer also said that "concerned employees" are sponsoring a joint work stoppage of all employees in support of the resolution. "The only resolution that can protect your job."

Employees were asked to meet today at Santo Cristo Hall, Oak and Mission Road, at 10 a.m. (the same time the council is scheduled to reconvene) "to determine the appropriate action."

In addition, union representative Frank Gillis was critical of Noonan's public attempt to clarify the present negotiating status. He received an apology from the city attorney.

Noonan noted that the reorganization and the union's resolution demand calls for "very good and careful language of law within the framework of cities." He said that if the resolution Gillis presented were passed as is, there is a strong possibility it would be illegal.

According to Noonan the negotiation session offered the union two possibilities. One was mediation through governmental channels. The other was a memo of understanding in which it would be spelled out that there would be no layoffs for the purpose of contracting for a period of one year.

"My concern is whether the city has the right to divest itself of government powers," said Noonan.

Gillis did not accept either offer.

Debate Continues On Coast Library

By BOB PETERSON
If Laguna Salada School District Trustees have their way the county library's locale will be different from what is now proposed by the city, and apparently concurred in by county officials.

The thing that's upsetting the trustees is that they have been turned down on their offer of a free library site to the county without what they consider adequate justification.

At their most recent board meeting the trustees let it be known in no uncertain terms that they think the county ought to take a free site for the new library.

Superintendent Jim Brien was instructed to prepare a resolution to protest the present proposal to build the library next to the Sanchez Adobe, the city's choice.

A branch library for the Linda Mar area of Pacifica has been top priority with the county for some time. The county's library building program has $152,000 budgeted for this purpose.

There presently is a makeshift library housed in a rented store in the Linda Mar Shopping Center. It has been termed "grossly inadequate" by the county librarian.

The school trustees more than a year ago approved of the concept of locating the proposed library within close proximity to the Sanchez Adobe. More specifically they wanted the Sanchez School site to be considered as the proper location.

Last July a meeting was held at city hall concerning possible locations of the new library. City, county and school district officials attended.

Shortly after that "exploratory meeting" the trustees expressed their wish that the Ortega School site would be the ideal site for a new library. This was contrary to a city position of the Sanchez Adobe as number one priority.

The district made a standing offer of a long-term lease at $1 a year to the county if it locates the library on a school site.

In addition to the Sanchez and Ortega schools, others discussed were Linda Mar and Cabrillo school sites.

There was to be a followup report after that meeting to the school district from the county building services supervisor and county librarian as to whether it would be possible, and if not, why, to locate the library at one of the free sites.

The only response the board received was a letter from Supervisor Jean Fassler to Brien stating that "after careful evaluation of our needs by county library staff each of the four sites visited was determined to be inadequate because of lack of available space or due to location."

"We are now concentrating our efforts on the feasibility of using Sanchez Adobe site," said the letter.

This irritated the trustees. Trustee Dale Buettgenback in particular charged that "the city is just interested in the library as a vehicle to finance a community room." Trustees claim there is no interest in saving taxpayers money, which would have to be paid to purchase necessary property if the library is to be built next to the Sanchez Adobe. Also questioned was the time it would take to purchase that property, whereas accepting free school district lands would allow immediate construction.

Brien, at the trustee's request, wrote back to Supervisor Fassler and noted that it was the board's understanding that there would be additional information, as the sketchy proposals made at the meeting (in July) were not intended to provide adequate data for making a comprehensive study of site adequacy.

The superintendent pointed out that the board wants to know what the county specifications require for a site. He noted that they were told a 12,000 square foot building and a 40,000 square foot site were being sought.

"Several of the board's proposed sites meet these requirements," said Brien. "The board also asked that a copy of the evaluation report made by the county library staff be obtained so they could be informed upon what it is based." (this report finally came after months of delay).

"Perhaps the chief concern of the school board is the manner in which its proposal was treated," said Brien's letter. "The board made a rather generous offer in the best interest of its constituency and expected additional dialogue with the city of Pacifica and the county in order to develop the best library services possible for the citizens of the Linda Mar area." (Trustees are now scheduled to meet with the council June 29).

A similar request was sent to Supervisor Chairman Ged Day in January.

Then in February the school board received a response from County Librarian Virginia Ross that was simply a copy of Mrs. Fassler's initial letter saying thanks but no thanks.

Brien again sent a letter to Supervisor Day, asking that the matter of library location be placed on the agenda of a regular meeting of the county board of supervisors, and that the trustees receive notification of which meeting.

"The (school) board is making this request because of its unsuccessful attempts to obtain answers to questions directed to the county," said Brien's letter. "The city, received a ten-page 'Program for Sanchez Library Building' progress report on the status of plans for a library building."

Speculation that had this report also been sent earlier to school officials a lot of unnecessary communication could have been avoided was ruled out at the trustees most recent meeting last week.

Looking over the report, Trustee Sid Lorvan said, "I still don't see anything more than I did when this all started. The comments (in the report) are meaningless." He said he wants the county librarian to come to a school board meeting and explain "what kind, size, shape and availability for people they're talking about."

Lorvan said it also was "insulting for them (county) to write to us and infer that we (trustees) want a library to latch onto as a school library."

Trustee Buettgenback said that "now that the election is over we can get down to the nitty-gritty. The verbiage (in the report) is meaningless. The decision already has been made and they don't care how much money is spent."

Sharp Park Fights New Pier Proposal

Sharp Park residents may be in for another surprise it was disclosed at the meeting of the Sharp Park Improvement Council, held June 8 at the Sharp Park Elementary School.

The new outfall pier, which is already highly controversial, may bring double jeopardy to that immediate area. The Santa Rosa Avenue location of the pier is in the heart of a residential neighborhood and residents fear that this location would change the character of Sharp Park radically. For one thing, the city's plan calls for the commercialization of Santa Rosa Avenue and designates the adjacent area as high density population. This plan will become locked in in 1973. This site for the pier has been hotly contested ever since it was selected by the City Council. Members feel that if they have to put up with a pier it should at least be located outside of their residential area, two blocks south at the base of the treatment plant, where the effluents could be sent directly seaward, thus avoiding additional engineering hazards and additional costs.

Hunter Safety Classes Given

The South San Francisco Rod & Gun Club is sponsoring a Hunter Safety Training course on June 21 and 22. The class is open to all youngsters 12 years of age and older and also includes adults.

Classes will start at 7 p.m. at the South San Francisco Rod & Gun Club building at the foot of Oyster Point Marina in South San Francisco.

Pacifica's Aide to Youth Job

Pacifica's Finance Director Mark Savage has been named the new director of that city's Youth Service Bureau (YSB), which places emphasis on juvenile delinquency prevention.

Savage, who will take over the new position June 28 said, "I wanted the job very badly." He took a cut in salary to accept the $16,600 a year post.

YSB recently received funding for another year through the California Criminal Justice Department. "I will do everything to keep the principles of the program alive," he said.

Savage's assistant for the past six months, Gul Ramchandani, will handle the finance director duties until a new appointment to that position is made.

The 39-year-old Savage has been active in YSB volunteer work since 1969. "I feel the concept of counseling kids who have made their first contact with the police is very important," said Savage.

"I'm really pleased to be heading the program which helps some of the young people of Pacifica to get back into the mainstream, instead of being in hot water with the police department and the community all the time."

Regarding his year and a half as the city's finance officer, Savage said: "One of the nicest things about the job was Jim Swayne. He's an outstanding guy to work for." Savage said he will be available to the city should his services be needed during the interim of filling his vacancy.

Prior to working for the city Savage worked with the Laguna Salada School District. He is the father of four children.

Greg Jones—Pro Grid 'Shock' Survivor

By GARRY NIVER

Three years ago, after an agonizing 72 hours in which he was bounced around from one pro football team to another, Greg Jones was finally deposited on the doorsteps of the lowly Buffalo Bills.

The Bills were in the market for any kind of even lukewarm bodies and Jones, the former South San Francisco High and UCLA grid phenom, found a home in upstate New York as the backup man for O. J. Simpson.

"I had actually quit pro football when the Bills called me up," revealed Jones, who had been the number four draft choice of the Minnesota Vikings.

"I was very disillusioned after the Bears had released me on the last cut and the main reason that I went to Buffalo was that I had to be on a roster for at least two regular season games to qualify for the remainder of my bonus," related the sturdy griddier.

Greg is currently working out while preparing to enter his third season for the Bills, perennial dormats of the Eastern Division of the American Football League. He goes to camp July 17.

"Looking in retrospect," he noted, "I don't think that most rookies really know what it takes to play pro football. I had just been married three weeks, wasn't in the best of shape and had torn hamstrings in both legs.

"What a young guy out of college doesn't realize is that it is 100 per cent business with no personal attachments. And the mending that it is hard for a player, who might have been pampered in college, to adjust," added Jones.

"I know that I should have been in better shape, both mentally and physically, than I was. But mainly," he said, "I think that you have to condition yourself towards the callous position that the game takes. I've seen guys get cut and not know it until they read their names in the paper."

"Each year you gain more confidence," revealed Jones, "and consequently that security slowly returns to you. However, I don't think that you can ever be completely secure unless you're of superstar status, such as O.J. or Dennis Shaw," added Greg.

"As you mature, you realize that it is mainly a job. And you must couple this economic outlook with your desire to play in order to survive in the game of pro ball," he philosophized.

"This year I'll be going into camp as the number two running back," the mod-looked Jones said, "And I know that we picked up a rookie back in the fourth round. But I can't worry about that. If I play up to my ability in camp, I know that I'll make the team," he added.

Greg said that the danger in being with a team which is coming off a disastrous season such as the Bills (1-13) is that there are a lot of personnel turnovers.

"Last year there were over 100 guys which came through our camp, some without even suiting up," he noted.

Jones feels that most of Buffalo's woes can be overcome by discarding the "loser's stigma."

"When you start losing, it seems to compound the smaller problems. The players who aren't playing start grumbling because they feel that they can be of more help than the ones playing and losing. Consequently, dissension builds up. And I think that we are all guilty when it comes to this," he noted.

"It's a matter of record that the teams with the morale problems are the ones which are losing," stated Greg. "It kills you when you go out wanting to win, but inside you're saying to yourself that we'll find another way to lose this one."

"The only cure for this is winning. Winning can overcome anything in pro football," he pointed out.

And Jones feels that Buffalo can rebound from last season's dismal record.

"Inexperience has hurt us worse than anything else," Jones revealed. "Last season we hit our lowest point and this year, with a new outlook, an excellent crop of rookies and a new football coach, Lou Saban, I predict that we'll be a much better team."

"Saban's forte is defense, which we seem to be lacking the most. This factor, coupled with the drafting of defensive ends Walt Patulski (Notre Dame) and Fred Swendsen (Notre Dame) and the seasoning of wide receiver J. D. Hill and tight end Jan White (AFC rookie of the year) should make us a much better football team," related Greg.

Jones feels that he'll get to play a little more this season as Simpson's exclusive understudy. "I'll rotate a lot more with O. J. this season than last year because I also had to spend a lot of time last season as a blocker at fullback. However, I feel that my greatest improvement has been made in blocking," he pointed out.

"The best thing I did last year, however, was pass receiving as I caught over 20 passes," added Jones.

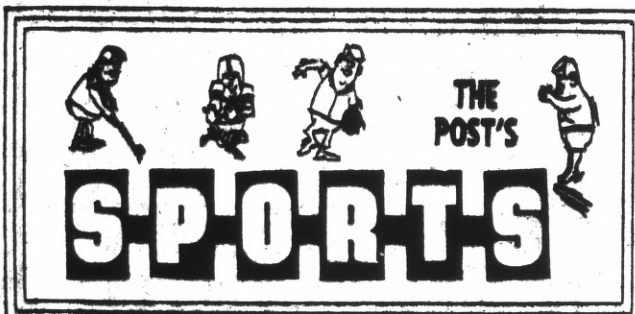

If Greg had one thing he would change, it is the length of the season. "I think that they should cut down on the exhibition games. Playing 20 games makes it too long a year and it becomes a great feat just to get through a season without being injured," he noted.

Jones is currently preparing for the 1972 season by running five miles every morning at College of San Mateo and then working out with Minnesota Viking quarterback Bob Lee in the afternoon at either S.F. State or Burlingame.

In the off-season, Jones is a sales trainee for H.S. Crocker Company and resides in Burlingame with his wife, Terry, and new daughter, Lisa.

In the meantime, if Buffalo ever wants to trade Greg to a West Coast team, it wouldn't break his heart.

"Buffalo has been good to me and they have great fans, but once you are used to living in California, nothing can compare."

D.C. Farm Leagues Open 1972 Season

The 1972 Daly City Farm Leagues opened up play last week. These leagues are made up of boys from the second through the fourth grades. The games are played on Monday through Saturday at Thomas Edison School Field, Skyline School Field, Garden Village School Field, and Ben Franklin School Field.

The Hunts Giants and the OLM Redbirds picked up two wins each to move into first place in the Western Farm League. The Giants defeated the LBVA Wildcats 10-5 and the LBVA Bobcats 24-13. Matt Thompson helped the Giants to these two victories. Thompson hit a homerun in the Giants victory over the Wildcats.

The OLM Redbirds defeated the Holy Angels Giants 30-6 and they also beat the OLPH Cardinals to tie Hunts for the League lead. The Redbirds were led to victory by the big bats of Pat McGee, Chris Chiarella and Danny Diggins. McGee had 3 homeruns for the Redbirds, while Chiarella and Diggins each had one.

In the final game of the week, the LBVA Wildcats blasted the OLPH Cardinals 35-6. The entire Wildcats team played well as every boy got at least one base hit.

The PAL Bobcats jumped in front of the Midwestern League as they picked up two wins last week. The Bobcats defeated the OLM Irish 38-26 and they defeated the PAL Serramonte Spiders by a score of 38-6. Mike O'Brien and Jim Dinson led the Bobcats to their victories. O'Brien and Dinson each hit Grand Slam homeruns.

The PAL Pirates picked up their first win of the year as they defeated the PAL "A's" by a score of 13-1. Frank McPartland, at second base for the Pirates, turned in three sparkling double plays. Mike Bigham went four for five with two homeruns to lead the Pirates' offense. Fred Johnson belted a solo home run for the "A's" only tally. The OLM Irish defeated the PAL Roadrunners 21-18. Bill Nutting and Richard Bechtel led the Irish to their first win of the year. Nutting had five hits and Bechtel had four.

The PAL "A's" picked up their first win of the year as they defeated the PAL Spiders 22-9. The entire "A's" team played an outstanding game. Karen Fitzpatrick was the leading hitter for the Spiders. Karen played a great defensive game in center field for the Spiders and she smashed three home runs to lead the Spiders offensively.

Slo-Pitch Play in Pacifica

The Pacifica Park, Beach & Recreation Department-sponsored Men's Slo-Pitch League entered the seventh week of league play with Theison Glass leading the Old Pro League and Ray's No-Stars leading the Rookie League.

Campbell Realty pounded out 24 hits including home runs by Tom Finali and Tom Biscarro and four hits by Mory Canas, as Campbell Realty clipped Manor Barber 17-6. Fred Mason provided the only power for Manor Barber with a home run in a losing cause.

Terry Gaydos and Bob Fox provided the long ball, but it was not enough as, Ski and Dive handed the Lamco Saints their fifth straight loss by the score of 7-5. Ski and Dive was led by the fine pitching of Carson English and the hitting of Art Gordon with two hits in the victory.

Theison Glass rolled into first place in the Old Pro League, as they used the hitting of Carl Rose and Ed, Fazio, as Theison cracked past the Budmen 15-8. Mike hit a home run in a losing cause for the Budmen.

The 2901 Club moved into second place, as they bombed Adobe Liquor 16-4. Gil Clayton led the 2901 Club with three home runs, while teammates

Mike Lafountain, Steve Evans and Dewey Milton all pounded out one home run apiece in the big win. Jim Bonner was the only "bright spot" for Adobe with a home run in the loss.

The B League West had two very close games on Wednesday.

The Hornets stung P.G.&E. 6-5 as Dan Engstrom drove in the tying run in the bottom of the 7th. Dave Jones tripled and Fred Hamilton signaled him home for the winning run in the bottom of the 8th.

Cantor Greenberg Conducts Cong. B'nai Israel Service

Sabbath Services at Congregation B'nai Israel will be held on Friday, conducted by Cantor Henry Greenberg, assisted by members of the Religious Practices Committee.

Henry Fuhs is chairman of the committee and is assisted by Michael Reutlinger, Henry Steinberg, Philip Kane, Stanley Spinrod, Stanley Fisher, Fred Hoffman and Cantor Greenberg.

President of the Congregation, A. Arthur Hirschhorn, will also participate in the service that begins at 8:30 p.m. An Oneg Shabbat (social hour) will follow the service, hosted by ladies of the Congregation.

Saturday morning services on June 24 will see the Bar Mitzvah of Michael Levinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Levinson of Daly City. Michael will be called to the Torah and take his place as an adult member of the Jewish Community.

He will participate in the reading of prayers and will read the Haftarah, the accompanying portion of the Prophets to the Torah Reading, in Hebrew.

Rabbi Solomon A. Shore and Cantor Henry Greenberg will officiate at the service that begins at 10 a.m.

Rabbi Shore will present Michael with his Certificate of Bar Mitzvah; A. Arthur Hirschhorn, President of the Congregation will present a personal Prayer Book and a representative of the Sisterhood will give Michael a Kiddush Cup, the ceremonial cup of the Sabbath.

In addition, a representative of the Men's Club will present a prayer book to the congregation in Michael's honor. A tradition has been developed at Congregation B'nai Israel wherein a plaque has been made that bears the names of all the boys and girls who have attained Bar or Bat Mitzvah during the year.

The plaque is presented to each child on their special day, after his or her name has been added, and is housed in the Temple. Bette Ehrlich, the most recent celebrant, will make the presentation at Michael's Bar Mitzvah.

Marian Fisher, president of the student body, announces that although the Sunday School year has drawn to a close, meetings and activities will continue through the summer. Assisting her are first vice president, Nancy Wellisch; second vice president, Billy Papellbaum; secretary, Sandy Frucht and treasurer, Audrey Fox. Chairmen are Nate Pava, fundraising; Kenny Frucht, sports; Leslie Schwartzbach, publicity and Martin Stone, religious.

Teen advisors are Bonny Dobrow, Barry Lichtman and Tony Michaelis. Julius Michaelis, past president of the congregation and youth director, is the adult advisor to the student body.

Pacifica Temco Land Annex Proposal Appears Doomed

Pacifica council by taking no action last week after many protests in essence denied the annexation of 250 acres of Temco land.

The unique move followed a public hearing to protest against the proposed annexation of the property lying south of the city's Pedro Point area where apartments were planned.

Protests could only be made by persons owning real property within the territory proposed to be annexed. This included only the property owners desiring the annexation.

The council, according to law, had the option of taking no action either after this hearing or during the next 30 days. If this is the case the annexation petition automatically fails and cannot be reinstated except with the consent of the same property owners of the area to be annexed.

City Manager Jim Swayne said he didn't think the property owners would be bringing the matter back up before the council for another try at annexation "because they got the feel of the council's position." The move to take no action was unanimous.

The city's planning commissioners also recently denied unanimously Temco's request for a rezoning to planned development apartment use.

Basis for their denial, and apparently why the city doesn't want annexation, is because of the additional tax burden, and need for services such as fire and police, additional apartments would create.

Peninsula Deaths

BRUNO GIOVAGNORIO

Bruno Giovagnorio, 61, of 571 Baden Avenue, South San Francisco, died June 12. He was a native of Italy.

Funeral services were conducted at 9:30 a.m. June 16 from the chapel of Nauman and Lincoln Mortuary, South San Francisco, followed by a 10 a.m. mass at All Soul's Catholic Church. Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery.

Survivors include his wife Lillian and step-children Robert Nomellini of South San Francisco.

EWING W. PARKER

Ewing W. Parker, 59, 575 Kilmore, Moss Beach, died June 14 as a result of an auto accident in San Francisco. A native of Pasadena, he had lived in Moss Beach two years, and South San Francisco 17 years.

He was an engineer and a member of the Marine Engineering Beneficial Association; Operating Engineers Stationary, San Bruno Moose Lodge, and Crocker Masonic Lodge in Daly City.

Survivors include his wife, Elsie, of Moss Beach.

Broadmindedness Is Rapped by Minister

Broadmindedness is leading claimed Christians down destruction road, a Bay Area congregation was told last Sunday.

Floyd Kite, district minister, told Jehovah's Witnesses in East Bay Richmond Auditorium the "new morality," allowing for homosexuality and premarital sex acts was "out of adjustment" with God's ways.

Kite said a prophecy in the Bible book of Ezekiel, chapters 8 and 18 doomed religious groups that condoned or adopted "liberal" sex practices contrary to strict Bible rules.

He cited the Numbers 32:23 "law of consequences" — "Your sins will catch up with you."

He exhorted the audience of 3,690, of whom some 109 had just been baptized the day before as new ministers of the evangelistic faith, to deaden fleshly passions and cultivate a "Christlike personality" if they wanted to survive the end of depraved elements in "Christianity."

The sermon was climax of a three-day "Circuit Assembly" of Jehovah's Witnesses from San Francisco and Peninsula congregations.

Mid-week Services In S.S.F.

Plans are being formalized for the mid-week services to be held by four South San Francisco churches. These services are designed primarily to provide weekly worship opportunities for individuals and families who because of travel or other summer activities miss their regular church services on Sunday.

The first service will be held today at 8 p.m. at Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church. The church is located at 609 Southwood Drive (just off of El Camino). The time and place will be unchanged during the remainder of the summer.

The ministers of the four participating churches (Richard Byfield of St. Elizabeth's Episcopal Church, Bill Willms of Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church, Gil Vieira of Aldersgate United Methodist Church, and Bob Clazie of St. Paul's United Methodist Church) will share responsibility for these services with Eddy Laine, who is the Minister to Youth for the two Methodist Churches. Bill Willms will deliver the first sermon.

A general order of worship is being composed which will include elements from various Protestant services. This order of worship will generally be used throughout the summer. Special music will be an occasional feature.

The churches are stressing that these services are not limited to their church membership. They hope that the community at large will take full advantage of this unique opportunity for mid-week summer workshop.

George 'n' Teddy Held Over At Whiskey Hill

Held over and still drawing big crowds are George 'n' Teddy, the fabulous duo entertaining Wednesdays through Sundays at Whiskey Hill in downtown Burlingame. Taking over the entertainment spotlight on Mondays and Tuesdays is the Cisco & Boston Mason Show. Live entertainment and dancing can always be found at the Royal Coach Motor Hotel in San Mateo. Currently appearing nightly, Tuesday through Saturday, in the Deacon Brodie Lounge is The Wild Bunch. The K. Allen Set perform on weekends in the Coach and Horses Dining Room. The Band Stand in Redwood City is featuring after-hours entertainment on Fridays and Saturdays. Weekend "night owls" always find a place to "roost" here. Live music and a complete breakfast menu are 2 a.m. to 5 a.m. attractions on Saturday and Sunday mornings. Joe Ercoli is vacationing in Europe, says his brother, Lou, who is minding their South City Leaning Tower and doing double duty. The face-lifting of this popular Italian restaurant is almost completed, with a few additions necessary — such as signs.

OWNERS PLAN SEAFOOD MENU — Handsome Richard Patane, left, who will manage the new Fisherman restaurant in Burlingame, and his maitre d' Alfredo Scardina, are shown planning their menu. The specialty of the house will be "Sicilian Cioppino" as prepared by chef Salvatore Patane, Sicilian-born dad of Richard. Fish fanciers will also like their dishes — such as Sea Bass alla 'via Reggio, Calamari alla bella maniera and Steamed Clams Bordelaise. The restaurant will open in early July at 1492 Old Bayshore Highway, with spectacular Bay viewing for its 250 dining guests. Another 200 can be accommodated on the second level banquet facilities.

Scotty Campbell's Outstanding Food

Celebrities from all over the Bay Area are seen dining often at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City. Entertaining dinner guests is popular at this outstanding restaurant, where the hospitality, reasonable prices, vast menu coverage, and quantity servings are the talk of the town. If you're concerned about finishing dinner before curtain-time at nearby Circle Star Theater, it would be our suggestion that you mention your theater plans to Mary Lou Francis, hostess-co-owner, when making dinner reservations. Vikki Carr, with a party of seven, enjoyed dinner here one recent Sunday night after the singing star's performance at Circle Star. (Helen Trainor, Mary Lou's mother, sat ringside for Miss Carr's last show, and who do you think sat right next to her? Handsome Sergio Franchi.) Also a recent guest at Scotty Campbell's for dinner was baritone Ed Ames with a party of 10. Celebrities abound at this award-winning restaurant. Sports fans were quick to recognize Dodger pitchers Don Sutton, Claude Osteen and Hoyt Wilhelm celebrating their victory over the Giants with a gourmet steak dinner, topped off with flaming Peach Pernod dessert, in the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery, in downtown San Francisco.

Tanforan Park Garden Restaurants

The Garden Restaurants, located on the lower mall of San Bruno's new Tanforan Park Shopping Center, are ideal for family-style dining while shopping. Donald Snider, general manager of the complex, insists on an informal "Come as you are" atmosphere. Each of the restaurants provide modestly priced menus. There is air-conditioning throughout, and a comfortable seating arrangement. If you're stocking your shelves with vacation-time foods for those leisure suppers and unexpected dinner-time drop-ins, a step in the right direction is Vince Licata's Fish Depot, located a few steps north of his popular Italian and Seafood restaurant. Flash: Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant will be dark for a short vacation June 18 through July 9. The Seafood Depot will remain open to serve you. As the waves of the Pacific pound relentlessly at the Coast of California, sometimes rising to magnificent heights as they smash and pound at age-old rocks, seagulls dip low and caw. This is the kind of view you will enjoy at Torres Beach restaurant, located in Montara. Operated by Frank and Fannie Torres, this long-favorite restaurant specializes in South American dishes as only the Torres can prepare them.

Nick's Is 'Rockin' To Steve Romano Combo

Nick's Restaurant and Lounge at Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, is a rockin' place these summer days and nights. The dining room and lounge are merry with laughter and conversation. Stimulating the atmosphere with song and dance sounds, Wednesday through Sunday nights, is the Steve Romano Combo, a recent addition to the entertainment agenda. Nick's is open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m. So head for the coast for some fun and a good meal. When Nick Gust says his Papagayo Room is "tops for Mexican food," he means it. A friendly reception, true Mexican food and atmosphere are basic attractions at this Rockaway Beach showplace located only steps away from Nick's Restaurant. Also offering a full panoramic view of the sea-spraying surf is Nick's nautical Moonraker, where gourmets may feast on Continental cuisine, and sip wines of distinct flavors. If you have a question about a label, the waiters are well schooled.

Stickney's Hick'ry Houses For Desserts

Stickney's Hick'ry Houses are synonymous with barbecued meats. On Father's Day, take Dad out to one of the restaurants (in San Mateo, Redwood City, Palo Alto or San Jose). Specially recommended are the hefty barbecued spareribs, served with the secret Hick'ry House Sauce. Enjoy a cocktail before dinner in the comfortable lounges. Home-style pies and cakes are baked fresh in Stickney's ovens. Try the fresh Strawberry Pie. Absolutely delicious! A favorite happy hour stopover for the Peninsula homeward bound is the Mark Twain Lounge at the San Francisco Hilton Inn at the International Airport. The drinks are first-rate — just like the background music of guitarist Bill Burch, who is on hand from 5 to 7 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays. Business is booming at the House of Troy restaurant in San Carlos, with many of the couples taking in the shows at Circle Star Theater. One of the new and more popular entrees now being served here is Boneless Breast of Chicken, stuffed with ham and cheese. This is also a favorite spot for entertainers playing the Peninsula circuit.

Tormey Criticizes SMJC Fund Policy

The now-you-see-it, now-you-don't budgeting and spending policies of the San Mateo Junior College District came under blistering attack last week from Trustee James Tormey, with an assist from Trustee Francis Pearson, and resulted in the scheduling of an exclusively budget session tonight.

Tormey charged that cuts in overhead expenditures which the board asked for last year appeared to have come out as merely a subtraction in figures from theoretical money that wouldn't have been spent anyway.

He also charged that as presented to the trustees in a multi-year projection, the management now was attempting to use up all of the tax power voted in a recent election, just to keep current. He pointed out that the district came out this year $1.8 million in the hole.

As the figures bounced around the board table, Pearson wanted to know what kind of mathematics it was to deduct something over $300,000 as drawn from unexpended funds, to pay up on the current deficit, and then enter it as a plus for next year.

"It's not slight of hand," Chancellor Clifford Erickson explained.

Tormey agreed that it wasn't, but he said he will not vote for this sort of thing until the college begins to cut its overhead, which he said was way out of line in management and maintenance, both in relationships here, and in comparison with other like college districts.

As a small example, he pointed out that the district is preparing to spend nearly $200,000 to add more building space, when it is not using its present space to any extent in the afternoons.

What is going on, Tormey said, is that the district is operating not only in deficit financing, projecting its deficits into the next year's budgets instead of meeting them, but is also operating as deficit management, projecting overhead cuts into the years ahead. He demanded concrete evidence of management and maintenance reductions in cost.

He was not happy, either, over another item not immediately visible, but which came up — some $450,000 which is assumed to be coming in from various sources, if certain things work out. Otherwise, they will mean cuts, if the money isn't allocated by the outside sources.

"What this means," Tormey explained later, "is that there could be $450,000 cuts in program — in teaching, in service to students. What we want are cuts in overhead, not that sort of thing."

The deficit Tormey was talking about appeared in an estimate of the actual budget for the year now ending this month of $3,231,221, against a projected budget for 1972-73 of $2,196,524 (about the same as last year). The difference is roughly $1.8 million.

KENNETH VAN GUNDY, former San Mateo mayor, has been named vice president for the Bay Area Social Planning Council. Other Peninsula named to posts were Justice Allison Rouse of Redwood City and Mrs. Paul Steiner of Hillsborough.

Belmont For Impact Ordinance

The Belmont city council has instructed Planner Neal Martin to proceed with "reasonable haste" with a new environmental impact statement ordinance.

The council advised Martin he should consider exempting developments of three units or less.

Councilman Robert A. Jones, who originally suggested the ordinance, said he has heard the city is to be "challenged" by developers, who plan soon to build apartments without variances from the city.

Developers in recent years have offered plans under planned unit development concepts, with lower per-acre density, to win city approval. Standard apartment zoning on their properties has allowed up to twice the planned density in some cases.

This may be coming to an end, Jones said, and the environmental impact requirement would be a means of assuring proper placement, Jones said. "There are some areas in town that are suitable for apartments and some that aren't," he noted.

If the challenge comes before the city is ready, "I'd be for a moratorium on all building in Belmont in that case," Jones said, adding there have been more new apartment starts in the past two years than ever.

R.C. Council Appoints Two New Planners

Two new members have been appointed to the Redwood City city council.

Andrew Bacigalupi will serve a term expiring June, 1975, and John J. Murphy will serve until June, 1975. William Floyd Jr., currently a member of the commission, was reappointed for a term expiring in June, 1973.

In other appointments, high school student Mary LeBlanc was named a member of the Civic Cultural Commission, with her term expiring in December, 1973.

Bill Warren was appointed to the Park and Recreation Commission with his term expiring in April, 1973. Joanne Weintraub will serve until April, 1973, and Diana J. Pound was appointed for a term expiring in April, 1976.

Joe Aknin was appointed to the Architectural Committee. His term will expire in June, 1976.

Three present members of the Board of Building Review and two present members of the Board of Library Trustees were reappointed.

Bay Wildlife Refuge Wins Senate Okay

The U.S. Senate today passed a bill introduced by Sen. Alan Cranston (D-Cal.) to establish by 1977 a national wildlife refuge covering 21,662 acres of the southern tip of San Francisco Bay.

Cranston said his measure would create "a unique and outstanding urban wildlife area" and preserve the South Bay as a "human refuge" for some four million residents.

The measure (HR 12143) authorizes the expenditure of up to $20.3 million over the next five years, including $9 million for land acquisition.

The alternative, Cranston warned, would be continued bay fill, commercial and industrial development and efforts to "crum more and more into a Bay Area which will grow less and less habitable."

The open space, open waters and natural beauty of a wildlife refuge "will give sustenance and strength to those who seek relief from the antagonism, the crowding, the pollution, the crime and the ugliness of our urban life," Cranston declared.

The refuge would stretch from the Menlo Park and Redwood City area of San Mateo County south to the Alviso area of San Jose in Santa Clara County, and north to Fremont in Alameda County on the other side of the bay.

Northern Residents to Work on Skyline Press

The new Skyline Press editors for the semester is composed of all women thus far. These female journalists will start the papers' operations rolling with its first edition for the Fall 1972 term on September 11.

Janet Parker, editor-in-chief; (San Bruno) Frank Thorne, associate editor; (San Bruno) Diana Teasland, feature editor; (Daly City) and Janet Burrious, sports editor; (San Bruno).

"These four editors will be a vital nucleus of experience and talent for next term's staff. It is common for the community colleges to start off with small staffs due to graduations every year and two years to complete their lower division education. Therefore, the Skyline Press has many spots open on its staff due to this year's graduations. There are positions open in the various writing areas, photography, editorial cartoons, and other aspects of publishing the newspaper," Sam Goldman, Advisor to the Skyline Press, declared.

Editor-in-chief Janet Parker began working on the Press as soon as she arrived at Skyline College last fall. She was a reporter during the fall semester and became the assistant editor during the past spring semester. Janet also won an award for her layout technique at the annual Journalism Association of Community Colleges Convention at Santa Cruz last April. She is a grad of Crestmoor High School where she was the newspaper's "The Crest" editor.

Fran Thorne, the new associate editor, is married and has three children. She works full time and has contributed her talent to the SC Press as a feature and columnist writer during the past year.

Diana Teasland is beginning her second semester with the staff and will be new feature editor. Diana gained her journalism experience during her high school years when she was assistant editor at Serramonte High School, and as a reporter for the Westmoor High Schools' "The Rampage."

Janet Burrious who was feature editor during the spring semester, now has taken over the sports page. Miss Burrious' writing versatility was gained at Crestmoor High School where she also was one of the editors of "The Crest."

Brunetta, Tregenza Ceremony

St. Dunstan's Church in Millbrae was the setting Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Linda Mary Brunetta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brunetta of Millbrae, and Tom Tregenza Jr., son of the senior Tom Tregenzas of Burlingame.

The 2 p.m. ceremony was followed by a reception at the Machinists' Hall in Burlingame.

Linda recited her vows in a candlelight satin gown appliqued with lace down the front of the bodice and sleeves.

Diane Peterson, the maid of honor, wore an old-fashioned empire dress with a yellow voile print with a scoop neck, puffed sleeves, and ruffled hemline.

The same dresses were worn by the three bridesmaids: Barb Hamilton, sister of the bride; Pat Petersen; and Joyce Corucini, sister of the bridegroom.

Pam Hamilton, the flower girl, was frocked in a short dress of lilac voile which was trimmed with lace. She carried a parasol decorated with flowers. Russell Hamilton was the ring bearer.

Steve Tregenza was his brother's best man. Guests were seated by Paul Brunetta, brother of the bride, Bob Hamilton and Vince Corucini.

Both Linda and Tom attended Mills High School. They will live in Foster City after a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe.

Girls Dominate Journalism Awards at TN

Girls dominated the sixth annual Terra Nova Journalism Awards Banquet as only senior Steve Calais was able to break through the feminine writing strength. And he did it dramatically, being the only writer to score in two categories.

Other winners were Rockie Montenegro (news) Lisa Savage (feature) Lorinda Knight (best poem to appear in Tiger Tales), Nancy Cook (best short story to appear in Tiger Tales), and Melessa McChesney, who was adjudged as the best all around author to appear in the creative writing section of Tiger Tales.

Calais won the unlikely combination of Best Sports Story and Best Editorial.

Calais won the sports category for his satire on the recent controversy over changing the name of the Stanford Indians. The co-sports editor scored in his sardonic editorial explaining his version of what really happened during an alleged attack on Oceana's campus by a group of Terra Nova pom-pom girls.

Miss Montenegro, senior co-editor-in-chief and co-winner of last year's Best News Story Award, scored again this time for her incisive report on the pros and cons of a pass-fail grading system.

Junior Feature Editor Lisa Savage took the prize for her interview with a student who had undergone an abortion.

Miss Knight, a senior, won for her poem entitled, "Billy Got a Little Puppy," while Miss Cook, a junior, won for her story, "The Alpine Legend."

Miss McChesney, a mid-term grad, pulled down the Best Creative Author award for the second consecutive year.

In graduation ceremonies at the Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md., John T. Byrd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin J. Murray of 1057 Sycamore Drive, Millbrae, ended four years of intense, formal study. He received his ensign's commission and bachelor of science degree, and will now serve at least five years in the active Navy. He is a graduate of Capuchino High School.

Sewing Class

In Daly City

The Daly City Recreation Department's program includes sewing classes for junior and senior high school students at the War Memorial Community Center, Room A.

To classes, under the instruction of Mrs. Pat Delporte, will emphasize individual fit and creation in various fabrics. Basic construction and alterations will also be featured.

The eight-week session will be held on Thursdays, June 29 through August 17 at 1 p.m. for junior high students, followed by a senior high class at 3 p.m.

There is an instruction fee of $6 per student for the 12 hours of instruction. Sewing machines will be furnished.

To enroll, send name, address, phone and fee to Daly City Recreation Department, 134 Hillside Blvd., prior to June 23.

Talavera Heads Clinic Board

Esther Talavera of Daly City has been elected chairwoman of the Board of Directors of the Our Lady of Guadalupe Health Center in Daly City.

Other officers: Cathie Smallwood, Daly City, first vice chairwoman; Marvin Gardner, second vice chairman; Bette Myerson, Daly City, secretary; Gloria Rodriguez, South San Francisco, treasurer.

BEST MEATS

There Is A Difference
... AT SAFEWAY DISCOUNT ...
YOU'LL FIND U.S.D.A. CHOICE GRADE BEEF
This grade is awarded by Department of Agriculture experts only to meat that would deliver tender, juicy, flavorful cuts. You'll find the top grades, too, in veal and pork at your Safeway Discount.

BEST MEAT TRIM

When comparing the prices of meat, it will pay you to compare the quality and trim as well. At Safeway Discount the prices are for the trimmed cuts of meat. Excess fat and bone are cut off before the meat is weighed, thus you get full value for your money.

BEST VALUE

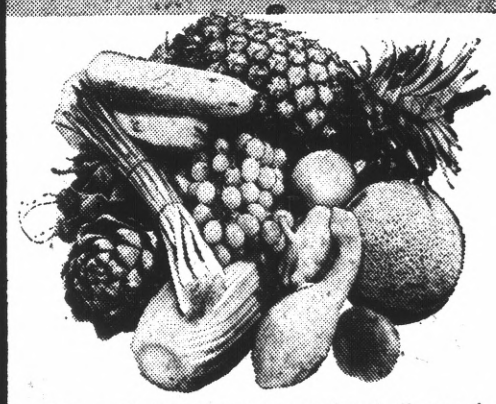

When you see an item marked "Super Saver" it means a special temporary savings, even below our everyday discount price. It pays to stock up on these products while these extra savings are in effect. Just another way you save every day at Safeway Discount.

BEST VARIETY

You will find all of your favorite National brands at Safeway plus a large variety of Safeway's own brands which are offered as additions to our wide selection. Safeway brands cost us less so we sell them for less. Just another way you save at Safeway Discount.

BEST PRODUCE

Safeway Produce Buyers are stationed all over the country, in every important producing area. They watch the market. They buy the best and rush it here to us. You get the best produce at lowest market prices every day at Safeway Discount.

Mrs. Gerk New AAUW President

The San Bruno Branch of the American Association of University Women recently honored Mrs. William Gerk and Mrs. George Thanos at the installation luncheon held at Russo's Restaurant in San Bruno.

Mrs. Thanos, former treasurer of the association, has been chosen president for the coming year.

Other officers to serve with her are Mrs. Rene Cardinaux, vice president; Mrs. Edwin Anderson, second vice president; Mrs. William O'Brien, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Syster, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Thomas, treasurer, and Mrs. Robert Lambertson, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Gerk was surprised by the luncheon announcement which recognized her service to the purposes of the AAUW in naming a gift of $500 to the Fellowships Program in her honor. Thus, she joins the ranks of members who have earlier been awarded this honor: Mrs. Robert Maxey, Mrs. Donald Barnhart, Mrs. Frank Jones, Dr. Metta Zahorsky, and Mrs. Bird Marshall.

The AAUW Fellowships Program, established in 1888, is the oldest and largest non-university program of graduate fellowships for women in the United States. Eighty-three women from 27 states and the District of Columbia will receive $300,000 in fellowships for 1972-73 from the Educational Foundation of the American Association of University Women. Individual stipends will be used for advanced doctoral research or to complete the final year of training in law, medicine, dentistry, or architecture and environmental design.

In addition to the fellowships for American women, the foundation also awards about 50 international fellowships a year.

Through the years, the Fellowships Program has provided over 2,600 fellowships to women of the United States and from 73 other countries around the world. AAUW members throughout the country support the program by contributing about $650,000 yearly for stipends and to build the $6,000,000 Fellowships Endowment for the awards to women who show promise or distinction in their fields and whose projects will provide significant contributions to knowledge, and to women who will provide constructive educational leadership on return to their countries.

All persons who plan to attend Skyline College this coming fall term must get their applications for admissions forms in before August 1, James Wyatt, dean of students, announced.

"We must have the applications for admissions forms in order that these interested students will be eligible to take the placement test Saturday, August 5," Wyatt explained.

The college's 1972-1973 catalogs and the fall term class schedules now are available at the college's admissions-recorders office and bookstore.

Along with completing the applications forms, students must contact their high schools and have two transcripts sent to the college. If they have attended other colleges transcripts from these institutions also must be sent to the college.

Oil Painting

The Daly City Recreation Department will offer a varied art program for adults during the summer months.

Miss Susan Brenner will instruct classes in oil painting. These classes are open to residents sixteen years of age and older. Classes will be at the Arts and Crafts Center, 101 Peoria.

Nine weeks remain. Thursdays, June 22-August 17 from 1:00-4:00 p.m.

To enroll in the above class, send name, address, daytime phone, and fee to the Daly City Recreation Department, 134 Hillside Blvd. prior to June 22. Fees will be adjusted for nine weeks.

Other classes include ceramics, design crafts, and film making media workshop. Enroll now — don't be left out.

Troop 84 Has Court Of Honor

Boy Scout Troop 84 recently held a Court of Honor at The Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, Eighty-seventh Street, Daly City.

The Tenderfoot Investiture was conducted by Scoutmaster Sam Van Ness and assisted by Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Ron Swain and Senior Patrol Leader David Sausjord.

Tenderfoot pins and troop neckerchiefs were presented by Scouts Craig Barron, Kevin Hyde, Brian Oxenham and Tom Pinkston.

Second Class pins were awarded by Richard Adams to Curley Underwood and Brian Oxenham.

First Class pin and merit badge sash was presented by Assistant Scoutmaster Ted Valoria to Erik Sausjord.

Merit Badges were presented by Sausjord to Curley Underwood and Guy Ketchum. The Star Scout Award was presented by Assistant Scoutmaster George Swain to Scout Guy Ketchum with a miniature Star of the award for Mrs. Ketchum. The highlight of the evening was an Eagle Award ceremony conducted by ADC George Swain and Ron Swain.

The Eagle Award medal was presented by Scoutmaster Sam Van Ness to Scout Tony Valoria; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Valoria were escorted on stage by Eagle Scouts Ron Swain and Richard Adams. Mrs. Valoria was pinned by her son with a miniature silver Eagle pin.

Tony is the second Eagle for the Valoria family. His brother Ted is presently serving with the U.S. Air Corps.

The Court of Honor was concluded by an Eagle cake presentation to Tony by his parents and shared by all.

Independence Day, the Fourth of July, Firecracker Day, Picnic and Watermelon on Ice Day by what ever name you and your family refer the major holiday of the summer season — it is rather a surprise to awaken on a foggy morning and discover that it is time to begin preparing for the Big Event! Summer time is sneaking up on me before I am ready to welcome it! I hope your mental calendar is keeping you better attuned to the seasons.

For you who are "with it" the news that the big fireworks sale, sponsored by the Westlake Catholic Men and Women, will begin next Wednesday, should come as no shocking revelation — for the rest of us, it should jog us into awareness.

Mrs. Donald Gianfermo, publicity chairman for the Westlake Catholic Women, reports that the sale will run a full week, starting June 28 and running to and through July 4.

The traditional red, white and blue tent will be located in the Westlake Shopping Center parking lot at Southgate and Lake Merced boulevard. Salespeople will be on hand to serve shoppers between 10 a.m. and 9 p.m. each day.

George Snell is the chairman and he has advised all of his volunteer assistants that Red Devil will supply the fireworks to be sold and a varied selection will be offered which should please every shopper and each pocket book. All items will be available, singly or in boxed assortments.

MEMBERS of the Alumnae chapter of the Alpha Iota sorority convened last Wednesday for the June meeting.

Mrs. Hilda Anderson hosted the gathering in her home.

A COMMITTEE has been formed to explore the possibility of expanding the education program at the Church of the Good Shepherd parish school to include the seventh and eighth grades, according to word from Mrs. Clifford Taylor, publicity chairman for the school's parents' club.

The appointment of the study committee came as a part of the final Good Shepherd Parents Club monthly business meeting of the spring semester and followed the installation of new officers.

Edward Scully was installed president of the organization for the fall '72 term. Assisting Scully will be vice president Jack Albrecht; secretary, Marilyn Donnelly; treasurer, Virginia Geenan, and Hugh McMonigle, auditor.

Other matters discussed during the meeting were the children's fair, the school picnic and the Golden Jubilee Mass and Reception for Father Gluszek.

MRS. MARGE EDWARDS was the honoree at a farewell party held recently in the home of Mrs. Ruth Hill.

Mrs. Mary O'Neil and Mrs. Hill co-hosted the surprise brunch. Guests included friends and co-workers from Cubs, Boy Scouts, Brownies, Girl Scouts, P-TA and her bridge club.

More than 25 persons were on hand to wish her well in her new home in McLean, Virginia.

THE BIRTHDAY Table will be set in the social hall of the Westlake Community Baptist Church this afternoon to celebrate the June Birthdays being observed by members of the Westlake Senior Citizens.

Mrs. Frank Specht, publicity chairman for the seniors' organization, reports that the club will continue to meet regularly throughout the summer months and prospective members are invited to drop by any Wednesday, around noon, and get acquainted with the ladies and gentlemen of the club and explore the possibility of joining the merry band of lively senior citizens.

More information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Specht, 755-6299.

MORE THAN 125 wives and children of men in prison were able to attend the Shrine circus as a result of the generosity of people who donated unneeded tickets to Friends Outside.

Volunteers have expressed their sincere thanks to all who helped make this outing possible.

Friends Outside is a service organization devoted to proving to men and women in jails and prisons that there is community concern for them and their families. Organizational policy calls for volunteers to work with, rather than for, the whole family so that prisoners' families themselves become Friends Outside and become involved in the program at all levels.

Vacation Church School in DC

Three churches in the Daly City - Westlake area are having Vacation Church school this week.

They are: Westlake Lutheran Church, 222 Avalon Drive, (755-3593); Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 337 Eighty-seventh Street, (755-0597); United Methodist Church of Daly City, 1474 Southgate, (992-5530).

The Broadmoor Presbyterian Church and the United Methodist will hold their from 9-12 and the Westlake Lutheran between 9-30-12.

Activities, recreation and learning will be culminated with a combined picnic of all three churches on the last day.

All children in the area are invited to attend. Children may register at any of the churches on the first day.

An open house will be held, to display the children's work, on June 22 at 7 p.m.

LOU LENT and Herbert Tweedie of the Rotary Club of Daly City offer their congratulations to Ann Twohey and Chona Bautista, junior students at Westmoor High School. They will be leaving this month to participate in the Ambassador Program of The Experiment in International Living. Ann will go to Germany and live with a family at Herrenburg near Stuttgart. Chona will go to Italy and will live with a family there. They will spend five days in study preparation at East Hampton, Mass., with the experiment staff. Both will return about August 18 and be available to talk and show color slides of their experiences to interested groups in the schools and community. Lent and the Rev. Tweedie are on the selection committee, together with Hazel Eagleton, The Rev. Jim Current and the faculty leader, Don Martin.

Good morning, good cooks. "Schools out! school's out!" Mother's vacation ends and teacher's vacation begins. The pitter-patter of little and large feet will be heard around the house. The refrigerator door will be open most of the day, and the cookie jar will be under constant siege.

For the pitter-patter I would suggest ear plugs, for the refrigerator door — a time lock, and for the cookie jar these cookies.

OATMEAL BRAN TREATS

- 1 cup sugar
 - 1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
 - 3/4 cup shortening
 - 1 egg
 - 1 3/4 cups flour
 - 2 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 cup milk
 - 1 1/2 cups bran flakes with raisins
 - 1 cup semi-sweet chocolate bits
 - 1 cup rolled oats
- In large mixing bowl beat the one cup granulated sugar, half cup brown sugar and three-fourth cup shortening. Add the one egg and cream well.
- Sift the one and three-fourths cup flour, two teaspoons baking powder and half teaspoon salt into the creamed mixture, add the one-quarter cup of milk and mix well. Stir in the one and one-half cups bran and raising cereal, three-fourths cup chocolate bits and one cup rolled oats.

Shape the dough into one-inch balls, place on lightly greased cookie sheet and flatten with fork.

Bake in 375-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

When that plaintive cry, "What's to eat?", sounds in your home, these easy to make and delicious cupcakes will be a tasty answer to the question.

LOU'S CUPCAKES

- 1 cup raisins
- 1-3 cup shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Rinse and dry raisins, dredge with flour. Cream the one-third cup shortening with one cup sugar and egg. Sift the one and one-half cups flour with the three teaspoons baking powder and add to creamed mixture alternately with half cup of milk. Add the half teaspoon vanilla and raisins.

Fill paper-lined muffin tins two-thirds full. Bake in 350-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes. Yield: 1 to 1 1/2 dozen.

CALYPSO BARS

- 2 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate
 - 2-3 cup hot water
 - 1 and one-thirds cups dates, chopped
 - 1 and one-thirds cups sugar
 - 1 cup margarine or butter
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1 1/4 cups brown sugar
 - 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon each soda and salt
 - 1 cup nuts, chopped
 - 1 1/2 cups quick-cooking oats
- Melt the two and one-half squares chocolate in the two-thirds cup hot water. Add the one and one-third cups each sugar and dates and cook over low heat until thick (about 5 minutes). Blend in one-fourth cup of the margarine. Add teaspoon vanilla and cool.
- Cream the three-fourths cup margarine and one and one-fourth cup brown sugar. Sift one and one-half cups flour, half teaspoon each soda and salt and add to creamed mixture. Add the one cup nuts and one and one-half cup oats. Mix until crumbly. Press 1/2 of this mixture into greased 13x9-inch pan. Spread date mixture over top and sprinkle with remaining dry mixture. Bake in 350-degree oven for 30 minutes. Cool. Chill in refrigerator one hour before cutting.

KC Communion Breakfast In San Mateo

Grand Knight Tom Curr of Marian Council 3773 representing Colma, Daly City, and Pacifica announced that the Oakland and Saint Francis Chapters of the Knights of Columbus will sponsor the 31st Annual Communion Breakfast honoring the incoming and outgoing Chapter Presidents and State Officers, June 25.

The mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. at Saint Bartholomew's Church, Alameda and Crystal Springs Road, San Mateo.

Marian Council will send delegates to the Communion Breakfast as members of the Color. They are Tom Curr, grand knight; Joe Gumina, deputy grand knight; Bob Simon, financial secretary; Ray Tschirgi, treasurer; Jim Haug, trustee.

At a recent meeting of Marian Council, Joseph A. Gumina was elected to the office of grand knight for the 1972-1973 term, succeeding Curr, who was made a trustee of the council.

Others elected to offices were: Louis Tricerri, deputy grand knight; George Hartig, chancellor; Herb Bradford, wardens; Joe Capuro, advocate; Ray Tschirgi, treasurer; Rich Rusting, recorder.

Inside Guards, Enrique Lamout and Ray Thurman. Outside Guards, Ed Oliva and Florian Shasky.

Trustees, three-year term, Tom Curr; two-year term, Bob Hale; one-year term, Jim Haug.

Model Cars and Boats Featured at Cub Pack Meet

Last month's pack 259 meeting featured boys' model cars, boats, coin collections, flag collections, and even an electrical exhibit. There was a display of all types of fishing gear, souvenirs from World War II (Bayonets, etc.) and even an old 13-star flag — thought to be about 180 years old.

Den 2 did the flag ceremonies for the evening. Scout-or-ama on May 19 and 20 was the main activity of the month.

AFTER 37 YEARS in the Jefferson Elementary School District, Daly City — 33 of them at the Woodrow Wilson School, the last four at Colma K-6 — Miss Mae Varini has retired. She is pictured with Colma Principal Harry Aronson at Skyliner restaurant dinner attended by over 100 parents, teachers and pupils.

The 49'er theme was carried out by 259 by having a real sluice box in the booth and letting the boys do actual panning and sluicing with gold dirt imported from the old mining area of Columbia, Calif.

Scout-or-ama patches were awarded to all the boys who had sold 10 tickets or more (Mike Leong sold the most) and had participated in the booth. The pack was the winner of a blue ribbon for "Proficiency."

Moving on to Scouting in Troop 259: Richard Wright and Ken Addad. Also our present leaders: Cubmaster Dale Wright and Asst. Tom Hughes.

There were bouquets of roses presented to all Den Mothers by their sons. Thank you plaques for outgoing cubmaster Dal Wright and Asst. Tom Hughes.

"Thank you" scrolls to all 60 members were presented by Committee Chairman, Geo. Condon.

The new Cubmaster will be Albert Leong, assisted by Ray Smith. Randy Wu will continue as Webelos Leader, and Mrs. Gladys Wu — while retiring as a Den Mother will take on the job next year as Counseling Den Mother to the whole pack.

Boy Scout Troop Takes an Outing

Twenty-two Boy Scouts from Troop 343 recently spent a weekend at the Boy Scout reservation in Willits. Joining them were four boys from the Explorer Post.

The boys participated in canoeing, swimming, rowing, hiking, meal planning, and cooking. Instruction on Morse code was given by a father of one of the boys, John Schembri, who is a "ham" radio operator.

Explorer scouts, Matt and Mike Matthews, Bob Rucnals, and Bill Rickey conducted a scuba diving research program. These boys collected specimens from the lake bottom which are now being analyzed by Steinhart Aquarium.

The Explorer Scouts were also in charge of the camp fire. They entertained the troop with guitar playing and singing.

At the May 22 Court of Honor meeting, it was announced that Matt Matthews had received all the merit badges for Eagle Scout.

The rank of Tenderfoot was awarded to Erik Svenson, Tom Bonomi, Bob Zarubin, and Frank Hidalgo. First Class awards went to: Steve Powers, Arthur Schembri, George Karzais, Bill Conaway, Bill Beeble, and Mitchell Campagna. Second Class awards went to Mitchell Campagna and Ken Rodriguez.

Other boys that received awards were Kurt Talbot, hiking and camping; Chris Theis, swimming and nature; Rick Vieira, Star, hiking, cooking, camping and first aid; Bill Conaway, music; George Zarubin, Star, citizenship, nation, music and firemanship; Steve Zarubin, Star, hiking, camping and cooking; and David Palmer, music.

Scout leader Bill Zarubin announced plans for the summer camping trip at Royaneh on the Russian River. The troop will camp Aug. 6-12. Ernie Bloom will be the leader in charge.

A family night dinner is being planned for June.

Mothers of Twins' Meet

The Coastside Mothers of Twins Club will meet today at 8 p.m. in the San Bruno Public Library conference room.

The program will be a discussion of the National Organization of Mothers of Twins Clubs convention to which Coastside will send two delegates. The convention will be held in Boston, Mass., July 28-29.

All mothers with a multiple birth are invited to attend. For more information please call membership chairman, Mrs. Jerry Scherier (983-6618).

Monday, July 17 at the Little Theatre, Westmoor High School, 7:30 p.m. A panel of judges will select two youngsters to represent Daly City at Kids' Day on Tuesday, August 1 at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta.

Contestants must contact the Daly City Recreation Department for official entry form and contest rules. Children must be residents of Daly City. Deadline for local entries is midnight, Wednesday, July 12.

The Scent of Orange Blossoms

Las Vegas was the honeymoon destination of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Monterrosas who were married at Mater Dolorosa Church.

The bride is the former Linda Calavano. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Calavano of South San Francisco who hosted a reception following the service at the Santo Christo Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Hector Monterrosas of San Bruno are the bride's parents.

For her wedding, Linda wore a satin gown with a chiffon bodice detailed with sequins and a high neckline and long puffy sleeves. Her attendants were dressed in similar gowns in different colors of the rainbow.

Debbie Calavano was the maid of honor and bridesmaids were Linda Stoppoloni, Morena Monterrosa and Martha Aviles. Andrea Errico was the flower girl.

Best man duties were performed by Harold Muniz and guests were seated by Joe Calavano, Joe Monterrosa and Gilbert Aviles. Ring bearer was David Stanich.

McCarthy-Childress

The garden of the Burlingame home of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Childress was the setting for the reception which followed the recent marriage of their son, Richard, and Lois McCarthy. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. McCarthy of South San Francisco.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Los Angeles. They are now living in San Bruno.

Gail Picchi served as the maid of honor and secondary attendants were Rhonda Pritchard, Dinorah Flores and Gail Childress.

Richard asked James Ferrell to be his best man and ushering duties were shared by Bob Battagin, Mike McCarthy and Chuck Herren.

Recto-Kendrick

Cristina A. Recto and John C. Kendrick were married recently at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Pacifica. The Crystal Springs Golf and Country Club was the setting for the reception which followed.

The new Mrs. Kendrick is the daughter of Elizabeth Daly of South San Francisco and the late Jose M. Recto. She was escorted to the altar by her uncle, William Helbing.

Liza Recto was her sister's maid of honor and secondary attendants included Elia Guillen, Carmen Yates and Teresa Tabuena.

John asked Richard Chome to be his best man and John McAboy, Albert Evenich and David Mehl shared ushering duties.

Cristina was graduated from Notre Dame College and Santa Clara University. She also is the sister of Jose Recto and Sandra Daly.

The bridegroom was graduated from San Francisco State where he belonged to Sigma Pi Sigma fraternity. He is a professional golf player with the Harding Park Golf Club in San Francisco.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Carmel and Yosemite and are now living in Redwood City.

O'Day-Holmlund

Belmont is the first address for Mr. and Mrs. Roger S. Holmlund (Carol Jean O'Day) who were married at Our Lady of Angels Church. A reception followed at the Green Hills Country Club.

The Rev. Fergus Lawless, OFM, Cap. conducted the rites for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Day of Burlingame and the son of Mrs. John Holmlund of South San Francisco and the late Mr. Holmlund.

The bride wore a candlelight gown of heavy silk for her wedding. Cathleen Anne O'Day, her sister's honor attendant, was dressed in lime green voile and bridesmaids Nancy Zirell, Ann Martino, Patty Brunetti and Eileen O'Day, another sister, wore similar costumes in purple, yellow, aqua and shocking pink respectively. William Brunetti stood with Roger as best man and guests were seated by John White, Leonard Garcia, Armand Brett and Tom Olmo.

The new Mrs. Holmlund was graduated from Mercy High School. She has two brothers, Dennis and Jack O'Day. The benedict is the brother of Jerry and Connie Holmlund.

Other officers include Mesdames Bernard Krug, San Mateo vice president; Walter Rees, Millbrae, recording secretary; Peter Filios, San Bruno, corresponding secretary; Arthur Mertens, San Mateo, treasurer; Matthew Krier, Hillsborough, auditor; and Patrick Gibbons, Burlingame, parliamentarian.

The moderator of the group is Sister Marguerite Buchanan, principal of the high school.

Filmmaking In Daly City

The Daly City Recreation Department will offer an exciting new program for teens during the summer months.

The film making and media workshop will include work with clay and animated features as well as the production of a documentary with script and a short movie.

The class will be held at Daniel Webster School on Wednesday, June 28-August 16 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

There is an instruction fee of $10 a student.

A film festival will be scheduled for August 23 at Thomas Edison School.

Class sizes are limited. To enroll send, name, address, phone and fee to Daly City Recreation Department, 134 Hillside Boulevard, prior to June 23.

Students over 18 may enroll in the adult class scheduled for Wednesday evening at Thomas Edison School.

Mercy High Mothers Post New Board

Besides being installed in the Industrial Hall of Fame, Ray Schnapp also was selected the outstanding automobile student and won the B of A plaque for Vocational Arts. Tom Price won the B of A certificate in Trades and Industrial Arts and was Industrial Arts student of the year.

Drafting awards went to Paul Anderson, David Robinson while Chris Theis, Richard Newlon and Richard Mazza received Outstanding IA awards.

CSF life members were presented to the following honor students: Paul Anderson, Eric Bogatin, Shelmoe Chow, Melanie Coyle, Mitchell Fos, Amy Hall, Juliet Hart, David Johnson, Sharell Korbus, Maureen Murray, Sheryl Riley, David Sausjord and Aileen Sonntag.

KICKING up their heels are these students of the Pat Bartholomew Academy of Dance, preparing for their show June 24, 8 p.m., and June 25, 2:30 p.m., at South San Francisco High School.

Parents Without Partners Has Varied Schedule of Activities

By AL QUALE
If you are a parent who is divorced, separated, widowed, or never married—the local chapter of "Parents Without Partners" wants you.

There are thousands of qualified in San Mateo County where divorces, for instance, consistently outnumbered marriages each year in the past decade.

"But we are still reaching only a small percentage," said Berny Rose, president of the 368-member San Mateo-Burlingame chapter.

"The primary function of Parents Without Partners (PWP), is to help parents and children in a single-parent family reach a healthy maturity," Rose said. "We try to accomplish this through a variety of programs that involve people meeting other people who are in the same situation."

Included are chapter meetings "with speakers qualified to talk about the problems of the single parent," Rose said. Speakers include child psychiatrists, marriage and family counselors, and attorneys to discuss legal aspects of divorce and dissolution, he added.

PWP programs also include "family activities like picnics and camp-outs, Mother's and Father's Day programs, and adult social functions like dances and parties," Rose said.

Approximately 82 per cent of the San Mateo-Burlingame chapter are single parents because of divorce, 17 per cent because their spouse died, "and less than 1 per cent have never been married," Rose said.

Some members have met and remarried others from the chapter, but Rose was quick to point out that "PWP is not a dating or marriage bureau—educational and family activities come first."

The San Mateo-Burlingame chapter holds five discussion groups for members each week. Each Sunday a family outing is held, and a special one-day outing for boys and another for girls is held one Saturday each month.

"The primary purpose of these one-day outings is to give children from female households some time to spend with a father," Rose said.

"We've also started a new program for teen-age children of parents in the chapter," he added.

Teen dances and parties are sponsored by the chapter, which charges its member parents $13 a year in dues. The local group has also embarked on a community information program.

"We have a speakers' bureau that is available without charge to any interested group in the community," Rose said. "It doesn't matter if it's a P-TA meeting, a union meeting, or a service club. The speakers' bureau will speak to any interested group of adults, because in that group there are bound to be some single parents who never heard of us."

The local PWP chapter also sponsored a series of lectures called SOS each year for parents from troubled households.

"This is the best program PWP sponsors," Rose said.

Five lectures are given, free of charge, during which PWP members "let them know some of the problems they will encounter if their marriage ends," Rose added.

"We don't say do or don't divorce," Rose said.

Prospective single parents are told, however, that if they do dissolve their marriage, they can receive help from PWP.

A "feeling of guilt" is the first characteristic developed by persons who lose their spouses, according to Rose.

"Divorced persons realize from a practical standpoint they failed at a very important job," he said. "If they are single because their spouse died, they usually feel they could have made things better for their former spouse during the life of their marriage."

At any rate, Rose said the biggest practical problem for new "single parents" is money.

"For the man it means supporting two households instead of one," he said. "For the woman, she must try to maintain a household on a smaller income than she had when she was married."

Rose added that, in most instances, the woman receives custody of the children.

"That also presents a problem for the woman — raising children in a single-parent household," he said. "And that last problem is the one PWP is most concerned with."

There are more than 65,000 members in PWP chapters throughout the U.S. The organization has been expanded internationally.

The San Mateo-Burlingame chapter will host the Northern California Regional Council of PWP July 15 at the Airport Hilton Hotel.

Rose, who has headed the local chapter since February, is a divorced father of two sons. When asked what happens to PWP members who remarry, he replied:

"They are automatically dropped from the rolls."

Back at the Old Desk

BACK AT THE OLD desk — Nothing has changed, except perhaps me. I seem to have a hard time getting back in the swing of things after my motor tour of California, from Happy Camp in the North to El Cajon in the south. Everywhere, I saw hitchhikers, hiking and hitching to points everywhere. They stay in public campgrounds and for the most part behave. But, like everything else, there are exceptions. At the Fallen Leaf Campground (Lake Tahoe) there was a tent full of dummies that liked to disturb those of us seeking a temporary reunion with Mom Nature.

SO WE PACKED our gear and sashayed down to Southern California and the high desert. Oddly the desert was cooler than Tahoe and a whole lot less noisy. A few dips in local swimming pools, followed by a round of golf at some of those fancy San Diego golf clubs and we headed back to San Mateo County — via Disneyland, San Simeon and Morro Bay. Of them all, we liked San Simeon, a true-to-life story on one newshound that made good.

MORRO BAY, as fellow travelers know, sports a PG&E facility complete with three tall smokestacks. During the daylight hours the plant burns natural gas and emits very little smoke. Nights are something else and those same stacks emit diesel smoke. P.S. The seafood is still out of this world.

UP HAPPY CAMP way the hills are beginning to tell the story of the woodsman's axe. Sure, trees are planted for all those that bite the dust, but meanwhile the hills look bare. Pity how one cannot return to memories of spring vacations past where tents were pitched amidst tall pines.

NOW THAT OUR predictions (all except one) came true, we look toward November and the runoff. D. C. Councilman Louis J. Papan's big win over S.B. Councilman Tony Governale is only the first round in what will undoubtedly prove to be one heckuva battle between the GOP and Democrats. Republican Ted Long is a hard campaigner and the vote count on June 6 doesn't mean a thing. Voters in the 27th Assembly District, as we predicted, are completely unreliable as regards party affiliation. When will both parties understand the people vote the man. And now all this rumble over those letters. Such nonsense. I, for one, will vote for the person I feel can do the job in Sacramento. And you can be certain I will pass on what these candidates stand for as the weeks go by.

THE BIG QUESTION in our mind at this moment is: If Papan does win who will take his seat on the council — for the next two years. Unlike the school district, which must go back to the people for a vote on such matters, the council may appoint a replacement. Who will be it?

Will it be one of the political hacks that have been "behind the scenes" in recent elections?

Or will the city administration, in a fit of wisdom, go to the people and ask their advice via the ballot box. Sure it will cost a few thousand bucks, but it will hush up a lot of the whispers and gripes.

As usual our advice will fall on deaf ears and, likely as not, the person appointed will have the initials of AT, DT, TN, or perhaps WS? One person we're sure WON'T get it will be FLP. And for that we thank them in advance. All this, TF Papan wins.

COLMA'S FRED GARBINI still adamant in his stand against abolishing the $1.50 burial fee in Colma. More later.

THE DALY CITY BUDGET will be DOWN by almost $1 million, if our source in City Hall is anywhere near correct. But because of the financial structure of the budgets the TAX RATE will NOT go down — it will stay at $1.89.

That's a whole lot better than up. Our thanks to the City Fathers of D.C. and suggest some other cities take a closer look at their loose ends.

NOW, if the elementary district would pull in the purse strings on some of their spending, we might learn to smile again.

FLASHY FLASH—The Old Rumor Mill at work again. Latest is this: The San Mateo County District Attorney's Office will drop out of the legal business with the Jefferson Elementary School District. It will either just pull out in a fit of disgust over all the opinions it has been asked to write, or it will be made to look like the school district asked them to leave. Whichever way it turns out, you can bet it will cost Joe Taxpayer some more money because the district will probably have to turn to local circles for legal talent.

THE NITTY GRITTY on those credit cards being carried by JESD school officials have been okayed by the DA. Actually, he said it was alright to issue them as long as they are not misused. That's what we've been saying right along. We still contend that calling home, office, local newsmen, political hangers-on and numbers designed for self-serving purposes is a shoddy use for such cards.

When Can a Landlord Up His Rent?

By LORENE BEASLEY,
Editor of BBB Barometer

In an effort to provide the government sufficient time to develop a long-range program to stabilize the economy of the country, Pres. Nixon, last Aug. 1, announced a 90-day freeze on wages, prices and rents.

The freeze ended on Nov. 13, and Phase II of the President's program began. A cost of Living Council was authorized to establish broad economic goals for Phase II and a Price Commission and Pay Board established to control price and wage increases.

The commission's policies were designed to help reduce inflation by holding the average of all price increases across the nation to be no greater than 2.5 per cent by the end of 1972. The IRS was given responsibility for monitoring the program and answering public inquiries.

Rent regulations, which became effective Dec. 29, state that a landlord must first determine base rent for a particular rental unit. An annual increase of 2.5 per cent, and no more, no matter how much operating costs increase, may automatically be added to the base rent to cover any increases of operating costs such as labor, electricity, gas, interest, etc.

Base rent may be raised if state and local property taxes, government fees and levies and municipal services increase. These must be taxes allocable to 1972, and the increase may only begin the month the taxes are due.

If a landlord has made capital improvements after Aug. 15, he may increase rents to cover these costs. The increase in monthly rent cannot be greater than 1.5 per cent of the cost of the improvement. A landlord must get the approval of the IRS for a rent increase greater than 10 per cent.

Tenants must be given 30 days written notice before increase is due. The notice must contain the amount of the monthly rent before and after the proposed increase, the per cent and dollar amount of the increase and the date it became effective. The landlord must show the units involved, and a sample computation of the base rent along with an explanation of how he determined the base rent.

Increased rents must be itemized with an explanation of how the rent of a unit was prorated. The landlord must also fully describe any capital improvements and his method of proration. In addition, he must list the hours he is available to explain the increase to the tenant if he does not fully understand it. Finally, he must offer documentation supporting the increase upon tenant's request. If the rent increase is not considered justifiable, the tenant is advised to contact the local IRS for assistance.

Rental properties exempt under these regulations are: (1) Industrial, farm, non-residential, commercial property. (2) New construction offered for rent for the first time after Aug. 15, 1971. (3) Rehabilitated dwellings (where cost is more than one-third of total value of rehabilitated property) rented for the first time after Aug. 1, 1971. (4) Single family dwellings rented on a greater than month-to-month lease where the owner owns no more than four such dwellings. (5) Owner-occupied rental dwellings of four units or less on a longer than month-to-month basis. (6) Units renting for $500 monthly or more.

Letters to Editor

Editor, The Post:

We would like to express our jubilation over the Supreme Court decision to annul the $143 million in annual rate increases for Pacific Telephone Company—a giant step in the consumers' fight against monstrous corporations. This would have been avoided had the Public Utilities Commission been wiser in its decision last June.

More power to the court, the only recourse of the poor consumers.

JOSEPHINE REYES,
Millbrae.

To the Editor:

In the interest of informing the public in connection with the construction of the Savage Intermediate School now under discussion by the Jefferson Elementary School District, I would like to point out some of the alternatives.

1. We can hold a bond election to provide the rest of the money needed. In order to promote a successful election, the board will need to inform the entire community of the specific need for the new school, as the voters of the whole district must be persuaded to vote for the bonds. The best hope of success lies in convincing the public of the crisis in classroom space. If the election is favorable, but we still experience difficulty selling the bonds, as we did last year, we can discount them to the builder or sell them on shorter terms with faster redemption.

The board was informed by the administration last year that this would only raise the tax rate 13 cents per hundred.

2. If the bond election should fail, we can use the one and three-quarter million we now have to construct a Central Building with offices, shower and toilet facilities, large multipurpose room, kitchen, etc. By redrawing the K-6 attendance boundaries only slightly, a decreasing enrollment will allow us to free most of the 22 portables now owned by the district. These could be clustered around the Central Building to form a serviceable seventh-eighth grade school.

This plan has an added advantage in that when the peak enrollment is passed in 1975-76, the portables could be moved out to meet anticipated needs in the Redevelopment and San Bruno Mountain areas. Ultimately, the Savage Site could be converted into a park. The baseball diamond and other outdoor equipment would be there, and the Central Building would be an ideal indoor recreation center.

3. Attendance boundaries could be redrawn to free one of the larger K-6 schools in the southwest area of the district for conversion to an Intermediate School. Reportedly, this would require transferring about one thousand students, and would leave only 15 to 20 classrooms available for special classes. This alternative has been rejected as undesirable by the board and other alternatives are being explored.

Dorothy D. Adams,
Daly City.

Editor, The Post:

With all the fuss about discrimination I feel it is high time the group most discriminated against should get a little publicity.

I am not discussing the various, racial, ethnic, homosexual, or religious groups which are so popular with the politicians and sob sisters these days, but a far larger group.

This group, which has more members than all the other minorities combined, is that group of persons 60 years of age and over.

Any person, retired or not, sixty years of age or over, is discriminated against more often and in a more subtle fashion than any member of the so-called minorities. I will now attempt to give passing mention to a few of these discriminating tactics, which are legion.

This discrimination was first brought to my attention by my automobile insurer. For well over 30 years I have been insuring my automobile with this particular company and the only time I had seen an agent was the first time I purchased insurance. All other contacts had been made by telephone.

Yet, the first time I reinsured after reaching 65, and every time thereafter, I have received a visit from the agent. He excuses himself by inferring that the company feels their agents should become better acquainted with the insured. The real reason should be obvious.

We go from automobile insurance to our friendly tax collector. Why do we who are over 65 and who have been paying taxes all our lives, for the multiplicity of reasons that exist, continue to pay higher and restless Dennis Hopper (costar and author of "Easy Rider") I'd expected to meet a far more flamboyant personality than the mild mannered, soft spoken, almost boyishly shy filmmaker he turned out to be.

It's possible that marriage to the young actress Daria Halprin ("Zabriskie Point"), the daughter of modern dancer Ann Halprin of Mill Valley, has mellowed him.

In town because of the re-release of "Easy Rider," he had a few succinct things to say about the studio pressures, financing, Hollywood paranoia, living in Taos where the Chicanos and Indians are in hostile revolt against the hippies (and Caucasians in general), and John Wayne.

"I was in two films of Duke's, 'Sons of Katie Elder' and 'True Grit.' I like him. Like there he was, the guy that saved us at Iwo Jima and battled all those bad guys for so many years.

"I didn't say I got along with him. He's an ornery fella, but I like him. He treats me like the house Commie.

"I'll never forget the day Governor George Wallace phoned to ask Duke to run for vice-president with him; he was real pleased. But he kept repeating the same line, 'I worked for one Wallace and that's enough.' He was referring to the studio head Hal Wallis."

Before fame, fortune and controversy was heaped on his head (although he claims he's broke now), Hopper was a veteran film actor. He made two out of the three films starring James Dean, "Rebel Without a Cause," and "Giant" during the fifties.

"But for eight years before I made 'Rider' I did nothing but march with Martin Luther King in the South, work in plastics and take still photographs. I couldn't get a job as an actor.

"Then two years before 'Rider' I worked as second unit photographer on 'The Trip' for Peter Fonda. We'd met in 1961 at my first wedding to a friend of Jane and Peter's."

"She was the daughter of Leland Hayward and Margaret Sullivan and Margaret Sullivan was once married to Henry Fonda so they all grew up together in Connecticut.

"Peter suggested we write a movie together, 'The Ying and Yang,' but it was never done. I came out to San Jose State College to teach in the Art and Humanities program when Peter got financing for 'Easy Rider' and we started to work on that."

It was Hopper who got writer Terry Southern involved but before he did any work on the script, he fell downstairs and broke his ribs. Southern provided the film title and that is all. Hopper said he wrote the script himself in two weeks, based on an original idea by Fonda.

"His plot line was that two motorcyclists drive to the Mardi Gras and smoke dope along the way and are shot by two duck hunters. We expanded it from there.

"It was producer Bert Schneider's idea to cast Jack Nicholson. I had a real Texas football player already chosen. Thank God we used Jack, because he was fantastic."

"I'm romantic about the film enough to hope it will always be shown. And besides, I need the money. But I have no fear of poverty, it's a very creative place."

Hopper has had a lot of trouble with his latest film, "The Last Movie," which has not had good reviews or distribution.

He and Fonda are considering writing a book about how they secured financing for "Easy Rider" with a title, "The Second Chance," and then possibly making it into a movie. But he's also considering a film on the young New Mexico Chicano leader, Reyes Tijerina, who was featured in the news five years ago.

"I want to get out of the aesthetic bag for awhile."

and higher taxes? One outstanding example is the farcical property tax relief for senior citizens. If you have a gross income of over $10,000 per year, which is about what it takes to live on, without cutting back too much, your eligibility goes down the drain.

Next we have prospective employers, and, I hasten to say, this does not include, by any manner of thinking, all employers. Try to get a job if you are over 65. The first person you meet is the chiseler who tries to get your services for as close to nothing as possible. Then, there is the one, who on mention of your age, suddenly finds the job filled. I must reiterate, though, there are many employers who do not discriminate against age.

Finally we come to the most ghastly group of all — the children of the elderly. These upstanding examples of the human race who shuttle their parents into nursing and convalescent homes and even into mental institutions when they start getting a little forgetful. I remember as a boy an uncle who lived with us until his death. He went around in his own little dream world but we did not shut him away. As long as he lived he had a home and was treated with the respect he well merited.

There are many other groups I could mention but I do not want to become boring. I hope this will help the elderly in some manner. The help will come, primarily, through the ballot box and by trading with those who have a little compassion and understanding of our problems and needs. Remember there are enough of us to reverse the trend if we ever get together.

Daly City Youth Soccer Team Takes Two Wins

A soccer team coached by the Westlake International Soccer Club's Mike Martin recently traveled to Stockton at the invitation of John Whitlock, district commissioner of youth soccer in that area.

Making the trip from Daly City were Pierre Martin, Louis Navarro, Ralph Joshua, Angelo and Pedro Dapello, Roland Quiros, Tom Willsey, Ray Marroquin, Charles Lee, Greg Miller and Chris Lonner.

They won their first game 3 to 1.

Louis Navarro scored the first goal soon after the start of the game. He later scored a second time on a cross pass by Roland Quiros. Then Stockton scored on a defensive error. The final goal was on a direct shot from the wing by Quiros.

After a picnic lunch the Westlakers played their second game. This time it was 2 to 0 for the Westlakers.

The Daly City boys played in 90 degree heat without substitution.

The Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department is still taking team sign-ups for the third annual High School Basketball League to be played on Monday nights in the Oceana High School Gym. Deadline for signing up a team is 9 p.m. to day.

Smith Family

Athletic Tradition

June 13 was a big day for the Smith family at Daly City's Jefferson High School.

During a special student body awards assembly, the school retired basketball jersey number 45, the uniform worn by all three Smith brothers during their tenure at the North County school.

The three brothers — Ed, 22, Pinky, 20, and Ken, 18 — were all in attendance during the ceremony. Their mother, Rebecca Smith, was presented the home white jersey by Principal Robert Bush. The away blue jersey will be kept by the school in a trophy case.

According to head basketball coach Mickey Kelly, the event was the first of its kind in the history of the school.

"Jefferson has never retired a jersey before in all the 40 years of its existence," he said.

Finish One-two

INDIANAPOLIS — The Peninsula sent a one-two punch postward in the 50-mile junior race on the National American Motorcycle Association's Championship card at Indy yesterday, and they finished just that way.

James Deehan of Pacifica piloted his Kawasaki to victory in the 50-mile semi-main event, with Jerry Greene of San Mateo coming in second.

Meanwhile, in the 125-mile main event, Cal Rayborn whizzed to his fourth straight victory on the road course at Indianapolis Raceway Park.

Rayborn, Spring Valley, Calif., picked up $12,000 in prize money after his Harley Davidson finished in 1:31 for an average speed of 84.99 miles per hour.

He won the same race in 1967, 1968 and 1969, but it was not run the past two years.

Daly City Bowler Near Top

Earl Anthony, Tacoma, Wash., led the field Sunday night with 2,990 as the first two rounds were completed in the $45,000 Japan Starlanes Open Bowling Tournament.

Bob Hood of Daly City, Calif. was two pins back of Anthony.

The 33-year-old Anthony, winner one week ago of the Portland, Ore., Open began the day with a six-game 1469 series, which put him in third place in the field of 144. He came back with 1521 in the second block for the 2,990 total. Included in the three-time champion's second round was a 299 game, one of three tossed during the day.

Hood, seeking his first Professional Bowler's Association title, was in second place with 1480 after the first round, then followed with 1499 to total 2988.

Gary Dickinson, Worth, Tex., was in third place with 2843 pins. Nelson Burton Jr., of St. Louis, the leading money-winner this year with over $41,000, was fourth at 2796. Rounding out the top five was Jim Wantland, a second-year pro from York, Pa. who led after

Rewarded by Phone Call

Three years ago we were hurting for a column, but knew where we could get one if we were willing to call Rochester, New York. That's where Jimmy Piersall was, even though at the time he was general manager of the Roanoke Bucks, a minor league professional football team in Virginia.

We called Rochester and were rewarded with what we consider one of our all-time better interviews.

Piersall is a columnist's dream, because you don't have to put words in his mouth. In fact, if you're not careful, he puts them in yours. He has something to say, is never afraid to say it in the frankest way possible, and is articulate when he presents his case, whatever it may be.

The primary theme of that telephone interview in 1969 was the question of what in hell Piersall was doing in football, why was he out of baseball, and would he ever return? Piersall, a gentleman to the end, displayed no bitterness toward The Game, professed his undying love for it because of all The Game had done for him, and said that he would return (although at the time it was off the record because of his association with football) "if baseball ever finds a place for me."

Well, as you undoubtedly know, Piersall HAS returned, and although he hasn't done it dramatically, like wading up onto the shore of the Oakland Estuary, or colorfully, such as running into town counter-clockwise, he has returned, if not with a bang (that's reserved for the Coliseum scoreboard), at least with much more than a whimper.

Charley Finley, who may be the only owner left in baseball who truly understands the meaning of the word "color" as it applies to baseball, brought Piersall into the front office this year on a conditional basis.

Jimmy is in charge of group sales, and is selling to a lot of groups. He's become part of the broadcast team, and the response from listeners has been encouraging.

Is Piersall glad to be back in baseball? You bet he is.

"It's the best break I've had in years," says Piersall. "Of course, I enjoyed football. I was making good money, but it just wasn't my game. I don't know it technically the way I know baseball, and I frankly had to come my way through it, the way the average sports writers do... but hey, don't get me wrong. I'm not putting that down. A man can't be an expert on everything. That's life."

"But baseball is one subject I don't have to con anybody about. I know it, and now I'm back where I belong, where I feel comfortable."

Needless to say, Piersall is "indebted to Mr. Finley." Jimmy was out of work for six months trying to grab a brass ring in baseball, but there were no openings until Finley created one.

"He gave me the opportunity to prove myself, and that's all I ever wanted."

Piersall, however, admits that his job is no bed of Astro-Turf. He's trying to sell tickets in one of the most competitive areas for the sports dollar in the country. The A's are doing well. ("We have the best product in the Bay Area"), but he feels that baseball in general could do better if it would open up the offense by allowing designated runners and hitters.

"Mr. Finley would love to hire track stars to run for certain players, and as for designated pinch-hitters, not only would that obviously add more offense to the game, but it would keep some big names in the game for more years."

And, as he's always been, Piersall is for more color in the game. When he asked him in that interview three years ago if he felt that perhaps he was out of baseball because his reputation as being a screwball was not the type of "image" the seemingly conservative wave of owners were willing to take on, Piersall denied it. He in fact asserted that no owner had ever asked him to lay off the comical antics.

"You can't really blame lack of color on the owners," said Piersall. "It's the umpires. They have too much control of the game. I think they should realize it's part of the act. They go along with showmanship in hockey, for instance. Certainly in wrestling. Those hockey officials let the fans think they've got the biggest fight in the world going."

"In baseball the umpires should be paid more so that they can get this thing out of their minds that players are trying to show them up. That's all they say when you argue with them or pull a funny thing off, or anything. 'You're tryin' to show me up.' Who comes to watch them? Players can't say a word anymore or they're out of the game."

"This all started because umpires have somehow come to believe that they're judged solely, now, on how well they control the game, keep it from getting out of hand... keeping things calm and moving with never any controversy or trouble. And they're very self-conscious because somebody is always watching them nowadays, the umpire-in-chief, one of his assistants... somebody's always writing reports on them."

"It's a tough job and they don't get enough money for it, so what they've done is figure, all right, make it as easy as possible for themselves, get the games over with and get out of there with as little trouble following them as possible."

Piersall thinks that things are now loosening up a little however. He says that umpires are being more patient, putting up with a lot more today.

"I notice a lot more bench jockeying now, and the umpires will look in there and yell back at them, but they're not as quick with their thumbs as they were when I left baseball."

At just about the point where we were going to ask Piersall what he thought of today's relatively colorless players and if he thought that they would loosen up along with the umpires (he had already volunteered that managers — such as Dick Williams — are more colorful than they were several years ago), he had to run off to some group sales. But we can tell you how he would have answered that question in March of 1969, from Rochester, N.Y.:

"I don't think players nowadays have as much fun as they used to. I know they don't have as much fun as I did. I had fun every minute I played. These kids nowadays have something else to fall back on, and this has hurt baseball. A college education is great, but in many cases nowadays it makes for complacency. Baseball is no longer their livelihood, they figure. They have other things going for them — or think they have, anyway."

"I know that I would have starved if it wasn't for baseball. I realize that, but not enough of these guys do. You know the guys, the restaurant and nightclub owners, the banjo strummers and singers and organ players. Contract time comes and they say that if they don't get what they want, they'll quit baseball and go into their other enterprises full time. They'd starve in those other fields if nobody knew their athletic reputations. If some of these guys quit — I don't care how big they are — they'd be forgotten in a couple of years and they couldn't make a living without their name."

"That's why I stayed in baseball as long as I could. I've made plenty of money on the side that these guys will never make if they break away from the game now."

Oh, we just remembered what Piersall was doing in Rochester, N.Y., when he was general manager of the Roanoke Bucks in Virginia. He was in town to speak at a sports banquet for a $1,000 fee, that's what he was doing!

Grealish Resigns as Harbor Unit Member

James V. Grealish of Daly City, president of the commission of the San Mateo County Harbor District, has announced his resignation as commissioner.

The resignation was accepted with reluctance by the other members of the commission with expressions of gratitude for the leadership Grealish displayed during his six months as president and for his dedication as a commissioner from December 18, 1969.

Grealish's resignation was necessary because of new business commitments, he said. He has become a corporate member of Protected Investors of America.

These commissioners were elected or appointed:

President, Frank Lee Jr.; treasurer, J. Charles Schultheis; vice president, Al f Carstens; secretary, H. Wallace Cooper Jr.

Qualified individuals interested in possible appointment to the board should send letters of intent and resumes to the San Mateo County Harbor District, Pillar Point Harbor, El Granada.

The closing date for submitting applications will be June 28.

Final Part Of Westside Feature Set

The final chapter in the story of "Breakthrough In Santa Nin-yo" will be viewd Sunday at the Family Fellowship Gospel Hour of Westside Baptist Church, 390 Inverness Drive, Pacifica at 7 p.m. Another feature of the evening will be a quiz concerning Bible knowledge and missionary information.

Also that evening, the Senior High and Junior High CYP groups will present a one-act play to show that the Bible really is the word of God. Pastor Donnelly will speak on the topic, "Schedules Are Necessary."

"The Christ We Preach" is the sermon topic for the 10:55 Morning Worship Hour service. Special music will be by the Sanctuary Choir.

Tuesday, 7:15 p.m. is Church visitation night.

Today at 7:30 p.m. is Prayer, Praise and Bible Study Hour at Westside Baptist Church. That evening the Board of Deacons will be in charge.

New Bruno City Aide Is Selected

John J. Mulqueeny, 34, an Anaheim city official, has been appointed to the newly created position of assistant to city manager-planning director, San Bruno City Mgr. Gerald Minford announced Monday.

Mulqueeny will assume his new position July 10. Until then, he will be winding up his current position as staff assistant to the director of parks and recreation for Anaheim. This is a department with 100 fulltime and 262 part-time employees, Minford said.

The new San Bruno official has served previously as associate planner for Anaheim, city planner for Seal Beach, and planning technician for Huntington Beach, all in southern California.

Mulqueeny received a master's degree in public administration, and a bachelor of arts degree in political science from Fullerton State, as well as an A.A. degree in civil engineering from Drexel University in Philadelphia.

He is married and has four sons. He will initially be housed in Minford's office, although, according to Minford, planning will be the primary task of the new position. He will be paid $14,724 a year.

Judge Kills Flood Deal; Appeal Set

A shocked County Board of Supervisors last week authorized District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson to file an immediate appeal from a decision by Presiding Superior Court Judge Melvin I. Cohn invalidating the proposed $8 million East Palo Alto-Belle Haven storm drain project.

Sorenson said he plans to take the case to the District Court of Appeal as soon as possible. "We must appeal, we have so much at stake," commented Supervisor Robert St. Clair.

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald echoed St. Clair, claiming that the county already has $1 million invested in legal and engineering preliminaries and faces the possibility of losing $5 to $6 million in federal assistance funds if the project is dumped.

Without further ado, the board voted 4 to 0 to authorize the appeal.

Judge Cohn ruled that insufficient evidence of special benefit to the area was submitted to the supervisors prior to establishment of an assessment district.

Hundreds of residents opposed the project, mostly because of its cost. Judge Cohn's decision resulted from a "class action" lawsuit brought by a citizen group on a number of legal grounds.

Another suit, brought by the Southern Pacific Railroad, sought a court order to prohibit
